SLAYER OF PRIEST FOUND GUILTY OF MURDER

LEAGUE GIVES POINTS THAT DETERMINED ITS DECISION

Intermingling Of Races In Upper Silesia Is Dominant Factor

DISREGARD VOTE

Ishii Prephecies That Its Findings Mark Decisive Hour Of League's Life

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, Oct. 13.—The communique of the Council of the League of Nations, embodying the recommendations, forecasted yesterday evening, with regard to Upper Silesia, says that the Committee concluded that the problem could not be solved simply by drawing a line based purely on plebiscite or economic consideration or on a compromise between the two owing to the intermingling of the German and Polish populations.

Therefore, in drawing the political frontier, adequate safeguards were necessary against the disruption of existing economic conditions. These cover arrangements for varying periods with a maximum of 15 years for impartial management with equal rights over railways, for common duties on many products, including coal, and zinc, and the maintenance of the German Mark in the regions assigned to Poland.

Viscount Ishii, winding up the session of the Council, said that the solution reached marked a decisive hour in the life of the League and was bound to contribute to the peace of Europe and the world.

RULING DEEMED FAIR

London, Oct. 13.—Authoritative opinion in London is that the decision of the League of Nations on Upper Silesia is very fair. It is pointed out that the Powers' pledge to accept the decision does not preclude the possibility of one or all of the Allies offering remarks on it.

Germany and Poland are expected to accept the decision with absolute loyalty when it is announced and the Supreme Council will not be affected in the slightest by any attempt by either party to obtain modifications of the decision.

AMBASSADORS CONFER

Geneva, Oct. 13.—The Conference of Ambassadors is meeting in Paris today to take cognisance of the proposed Silesian solution and to arrange for the execution of the decision reached. The Japanese Charge d'Affaires will attend instead of Viscount Ishii who is returning to Paris tomorrow.

Viscount Ishii, in the course of a conversation with a representative of Reuter's Agency denied that there was any foundation for the reports that a certain government had placed obstacles, restricting its council representative's action in the deliberations on the problem. He affirmed that the members of the Council had primarily in view the maintenance of peace in Europe.

GERMANY IN DISPAIR

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 13.—Marks have reached a new record in being quoted at 550 to the pound. There is exciting speculation as to whether a financial catastrophe is impending in Germany through the depreciation in her currency, accompanied by a continued boom in industrial stocks, the average price of which is now more than double that of last March.

The report of the decision regarding Upper Silesia has been received with consternation by financial circles in Berlin, which are discussing measures to prevent the withdrawal of German marks from Silesia to Poland, as the currency will be further depreciated if the Poles get hold of large quantities of German notes.

The well-known American banker, Mr. James Speyer, interviewed in London, declared that he viewed the situation with alarm. He said that the only palliative was large long-term credits to Germany.

Duke Of Manchester To Star In Movies

THE Duke of Manchester doesn't propose to permit Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of Rutland, to steal a march on him.

Lady Diana recently startled English society and brought down the displeasure of the Queen when she entered the movies. It was announced by Genie Jacobs, New York threatrical agent, that the Duke of Manchester will arrive in the United States soon to start immediately upon a production for the screen in which he is to be starred.

PRESS GIVES WARNING ON OPTIMISM IN CONFERENCE

Harding's Position Is Set Forth Clearly As To Coming Meeting

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 13.—The newspapers endorse President Harding's warning against undue optimism regarding the Washington Conference, cabled yesterday, emphasising that the President, though idealistic, is practical.

The Tribune says that it will not and cannot be a conference to abolish armaments. The utmost to be hoped is for some limitation and lightening of military burdens which is achievable more by the removal of the causes, providing bases for possible conflicts, thus striking at the roots of war, than by paper agreements.

The World declares that President Harding must have a definite program and formula which has not been disclosed. The disarmament issue has been subordinated to Pacific and Far Eastern Questions and therefore

Early Risers May Watch Moon Fade On Monday Morning

There will be an eclipse of the moon Monday and those wishing to observe it are advised to oil up their alarm clocks, for the dimming process is scheduled to begin at about 5 a.m.

The eclipse will be almost total and the first "bite" of the umbra should be noticeable, weather permitting, at 5:15 o'clock, from which time on until the moon hits the western horizon the progress of the shadow may be followed.

Following are the times of the principal phases as outlined by Siccawei Observatory according to China Coast standard time:

4:01 a.m.—moon enters the penumbra.
5:14—moon enters umbra.
6:54—maximum phase of the eclipse.
8:34—moon leaves the umbra.
9:46—moon leaves the penumbra.

TLS. 150,000 IS GOAL OF DRIVE FOR SCHOOL FUND

Thirteen Teams Ready To Make It Easy To Contribute

NEED IS GREAT

Children Now Housed In Cramped Quarters Totaly Inadequate

The campaign to raise Tls. 150,000 for the Shanghai American School, which will begin Monday is already giving indications of large success. The workers are enthusiastic and at their preliminary conferences have mapped out and perfected a system for canvassing which insures the covering of the entire American community.

Thus far thirteen teams of canvassers have been organised. The members will meet daily at the Navy Y.M.C.A. for tiffin, to discuss the campaign and report progress and to make suggestions calculated in speeding up interest throughout the drive period.

The need of a plant for the American School has steadily become more and more apparent. The School has increased 25 percent in attendance this year. The High School Department has increased one-third, the Boarding Department, 25 percent. The increase would be much larger did the School have the facilities. The School is so crowded that it has been necessary to refuse all children who are not bona-fide Americans.

The school at present occupies nine rented dwelling houses. Four of these on North Szechuen Road are attached and doors have been cut through, making a large building which is used as a girls' dormitory. Every available inch of space is used here. Every dormitory room is as full as it can be and maintain the highest standards of health.

CLASSES IN LABORATORY

Two large attached houses on North Szechuen Road Extension have been cut together to form a High School. Last year, it was necessary for pupils to sit three in a seat during the High School assembly. Even the laboratory has classes during the periods that it is not in use.

Two more attached houses on Dixwell Road form the Primary School. The first four grades have rooms here, while the upstairs portions are used as additional dormitories. The best accommodation in the institution exist here; but even here, the rooms will stand but little more expansion. In addition to this, two more outlying houses are used as dormitories.

In office accommodations, the same congestion exists. Former coolie quarters have been made over and renovated for the Business Manager, while a rearranged bath room serves as an office for the Home Manager, and the Principal's living room serves as a committee and faculty room.

However, buildings do not make a school and no complaint is ever heard from faculty or from students. The faculty believes that it can build up as good a school as there is under the American flag in spite of inadequate quarters, and one will look a long time before finding a group of children who are as happy in their school life as the boys and girls at the American School.

The personnel of the teams of campaign canvassers is as follows:

Mrs. L. J. Birney, Capt., Mrs. W. W. Lockwood, Mrs. W. A. Main, Mrs. J. C. Clark, Mrs. C. W. Petit, Mrs. C. H. Robertson, Mr. G. C. Kerr, Mrs. H. K. Wight, Mrs. W. W. Peter, Mr. W. A. Main, and Miss Mabel Harris.

Mrs. E. S. Cunningham, Capt., Mr. A. B. Rosenfeld, Mrs. Stewart, Major Holcomb, Mrs. Hill, Miss de Vault, Mrs. R. B. Nichols, Captain Eisler, and Miss Hill.

Boys Return From States To Finish School Here

During the month of September, seventeen young men returned from America to Shanghai to enter the High School Department of the Shanghai American School. For the most part, these are young men who had previously attended the Shanghai School but who had gone to America with their parents and were in school in America. Although they had reached the high school age, they and their parents preferred that they should return to Shanghai and complete their high school work. Several of the group were in attendance last year in high schools of first rank.

That these seventeen young men should prefer to return to Shanghai to complete their high school work is a tribute to the American School here. They are:

TOKIO WANTS CHINA'S NEXT NOTE TO BE OTHERWISE

Genro Passes Rosolution To Ask Peking To Reconsider

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 14.—While the Japanese Legation has received nothing official on the subject, it is known that a meeting of the Advisory Councillors to the Government at Tokio on the 11th instant passed a resolution that the Chinese Government should be asked to reconsider its recent memorandum regarding the Shantung negotiations.

SHANGTUNG TO SEND FIVE

Peking, Oct. 12.—The people of Shantung are very active at present in putting forward their view for the settlement of the Shantung question at the Washington Conference. A telegram received here yesterday says that the various public bodies at Tsinanful have formed a union with the object of sending to Washington five representatives familiar with all Shantung questions.

Mr. Wang Chow-chun has been elected Chairman of the new organisation, while the names of Messrs. Wang Lo-ping, Ting Shih-yi and Tu Shih-pin are put forward as representatives, the others to be selected later.

Mr. Chiang, representative of the Central Government, has now arrived at Tsinanfu, to explain the Government's attitude towards the Shantung issue, and the union is arranging to hear what he has to say before taking any further independent action.

How To Be Polite Along Most Proper Chinese Lines

By Elsie McCormick

WE remember once reading in an etiquette book of 1832 that ladies should courtsey on entering a drawing-room and that they should always handle bread daintily when dipping it in soup. It also remarked, if we recall it correctly, that ladies should confine their conversation to the fine arts and not display an unseemly knowledge of political affairs. "If a lady mentions the latter subjects at all, it should be to ask a gentleman for instruction," the social Badaeker explained. The cover of the book was moss-grown and mouldy, but not half as much so as the contents. Whoever tried to follow it today would be swept from the life-line by the first courtsey, tossed ruthlessly in the conversational breakers by her references to the fine arts, and eventually dragged down beyond hope of rescue by the undertow of the soup.

Considering how the standards of "female behavior," as the etiquette book called it, checks up with the present, the changes going on before our eyes in China seem less startling. These changes, incidentally, are not as widespread as residents of the treaty ports are likely to believe, for the old etiquette is paramount throughout practically all the interior and is still observed very largely even in the centers of Western influence.

STILL USE RED BLANKET

Chinese visiting-cards in Shanghai are usually conventional squares of white pasteboard, but conservative families in other cities still use the old type of circus poster, brilliantly red in hue and eight by four inches in dimension. If such cards were used among foreigners, the proper card-tray for a tea-party would be a laundry basket, and a lawyer's brief-case would be a necessary accompaniment to a call.

Many of the Chinese social customs, however, have a few millimeters of gray matter behind them. Take, for instance, the matter of sending gifts. Instead of presenting someone with several handkerchiefs bearing the wrong initial or an embroidered burlap complication made by a little girl in technical high school and stowed away since Christmas in a closet because nobody could figure out what it was for, the Chinese send an assortment of gifts and let the recipient take his choice. If this custom were followed at home, the day of dispatching an ash tray to Aunt Josephine who loathes smoke or a book on automobiles to a family whose fastest vehicle is a go-cart would pass into happy oblivion. Foreigners given presents after this fashion, however, usually make the error of keeping the whole assortment, to the great disgust of a family with several more people to remember.

It sometimes happens that the mistake is on the other side of the ledger. A missionary household remembered the birthday of an old man in an interior city by sending him three gifts. Being a bit behind the schedule financially and knowing the custom of returning part of the outlay, the donors borrowed some expensive fireworks from a store with the assurance that they would come back next day. That evening, however, the missionary household watched a fine pyrotechnic display with dubious pleasure. The old man, who know a thing or two about foreign custom, had decided to honor his friends by keeping all the gifts.

WISDOM IN THIS CUP

Another custom with real wisdom behind it is the cups of tea which make their appearance on the arrival of a guest about to pay a formal call. Anyone who has tried to break away from a call, foreign-fashion, knows the long ritual of, "Oh, must you really go?" "Oh, surely you can stay a little longer," and "Wait just a minute. I've got the cutest Mandarin coat upstairs that I bought in the Native City. I'm

LURED AWAY TO ADMINISTER SACRAMENT TO 'DYING' MAN IS SHOT ON LONELY BEACH

Thirteen Links In Chain Of Circumstance Brought About Conviction Of William Hightower For Murder In First Degree After Thrilling Trial Which Stirred The Whole Pacific Coast

HELPED DIG UP VICTIM FOR REWARD

Killer Led To Own Undoing By "Finding" Body And Knowing Too Much About Way In Which It Lay In Shallow Grave In Sands Of Beach

Redwood City, Cal., Oct. 14.—William Hightower was convicted today of murder in the first degree, for the slaying of Father Patrick Heslin, a Catholic priest of Colma.

This conviction brings to a close one of the most sensational cases that has stirred police annals of the Pacific Coast in recent years. In it were such elements as a note demanding the payment of $6,500 ransom for the priest by alleged kidnappers, the threat that an infernal machine would be used if the search was not stopped and the final unearthing of the body of the priest on a lonely stretch of beach, the man now convicted of the murder, assisting in digging it up in an effort to obtain the reward offered by the authorities. This proved his undoing.

Hightower's actions at this time, including the way in which he led the search to where he said had seen a body half buried by drifting sand, brought about his arrest. He stoutly denied the crime and his alibi was that he had been on an all night trip to San Jose with a woman he first called Dolly Mason and who afterwards was proved to be one Doris Shirley who proved his statement false.

Father Heslin priest of Holy Angels Church, disappeared from his home in Colma about 10 miles from San Francisco on the night of August 2, after he had been called to the door of the parish house by a man who arrived in an automobile at 9 o'clock saying with evident excitement that he wanted the priest to answer a "death call." Two women, one the priest's housekeeper, Miss Marie Wendel, and Mrs. Mary Bianchi who lives across the street, saw the man, but he was wearing a heavy overcoat and goggles.

NOTE ASKS RANSOM

The priest left with him and was never seen alive again. Two days later Archbishop Hanna received a note stating that the missing priest was in a "bootlegger's" cellar, a prisoner in chains and that he would be freed only upon the receipt of $6,500 ransom.

Posses of armed men then began to scour the country, stimulated by a reward of $5,000 which the good people of the priest's parish pledged to pay those who might set him free. Then came the finding of the body and the destruction of Hightower's alibi by the Shirley woman.

Next he was identified by the priest's housekeeper and a neighbor, but as the man had worn goggles, this was not a particularly certain bit of evidence. Mainly the state depended on circumstantial evidence and it so happened that there were thirteen links in the chain which the authorities proved to be unbreakable and which now bids fair to send Hightower to the gallows.

THIRTEEN LINKS OF FATE

Here are the thirteen links of evidence woven by the authorities of San Francisco and San Mateo county around William A. Hightower, suspected of the murder of Father Patrick E. Heslin of Colma:

1.—Hightower's story that between the hours of 6:30 p.m. and 11 p.m. on August 2, the night Father Heslin was slain, he was motoring with Doris Shirley, is proved to be false by the Shirley woman.

2.—Prisoner admited having erected a tent found in his hotel room at a spot on Salada Beach close to where the body of Father Heslin was found under his direction.

3.—Accused man confessed he possessed a .45 caliber automatic revolver, the type of weapon used by Father Heslin's murderer, but lamely asserts he sold it the day before the crime was committed to "a man who was sitting on a bench in Union square."

4.—Handwriting experts assert positively that Hightower wrote the first note received by Archbishop Hanna demanding $6,500 for the return of the priest.

5.—Infernal machine which writer of ransom note said would be used to prevent police interference with delivery of ransom was found in Hightower's room.

6.—Roy Ganey, ex-seaman, posi-

J. D. Rockefeller, Jr. Passes Through Here On Way Home Today

Shortness Of Empress' Stay Necessitates Cancelling Dinner

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., who has been visiting in South China following the opening of the Peking Union Medical College, will pass through Shanghai today on the Empress of Russia, on his return to the United States.

It was originally planned by Mr. Rockefeller to stop in Shanghai on his way home for the purpose of giving a dinner to the staff of the Standard Oil Company here, but owing to the shortness of the time which the ship will spend at Woosung this plan has had to be abandoned.

Three prominent members of the Rockefeller party will join the ship here. They are Drs. G. E. de Schweinitz, J. A. Clark and F. F. Simpson. The three visiting physicians were entertained at a reception yesterday given by University of Pennsylvania men at the home of Mr. P. S. Wang, 617 South Chengtu Road.

U.S. Consul Delayed By Yangtsze Fighting

Mr. Norman F. Allman, recently appointed American Consul at Chungking, who was to have left for his post Thursday, was unable to go because of river boats still being delayed by the fighting along the Yangtsze.

Mr. Allman, who has been acting as American Assessor in the Mixed Court, will remain in Shanghai until traffic is again resumed and will then proceed up river.

Great Fleet To Hold Maneuvers At Panama Bay

(China Press Correspondence)

tively identified Hightower as a man he met in a construction camp at Lemay, Utah, and who told him he had killed several men and who tried to get him to enter into a blackmail plot.

SAID HIM NEAR SCENE

7.—Witnesses discovered who swore to seeing accused, on the day of the murder, in a stalled automobile on the Halfmoon bay road near where body was found.

8.—Hightower admited visiting scene of crime three times before he led police to Father Heslin's shallow grave, explaining he sought a cache of booze, a treasure for which, however, he did not dig.

9.—Pieces of cord found attached to planks which slayer of priest used to lower victim's body over cliff corresponded to cord tied to tent found in Hightower's.

10.—Hightower admited printing in ink on a side of his tent the warning word "Tuberculosis" and handwriting experts unquivocally declare printed letters in ransom note were written by same hand which wrote.

11.—Accused admitted boasting to various persons that he was a "bad man" and had committed several murders.

12.—Fred Hall, Bakersfield capitalist, and former employer of Hightower, said prisoner frequently expressed hatred of the Catholic church and its priests.

13.—Hightower had penchant for using typewriter and letters on a rented typewriter found in his room corresponded to letters in typewriting of ransom note.

The prisoner's story of his movements on the night of August 2, when Father Patrick E. Heslin of Colma was murdered on the bleak sand dunes of Salada Beach, was torn to bits by Doris Shirley, former inamorata of the accused man.

She proved absolutely to the satisfaction of Chief of Police O'Brien, Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson and District Attorney Swart that during the hours on the night of August 2 when Hightower swore she was riding with him, she dined in a Market street restaurant and attended a local theater.

Empress Of Russia Departing Today

C.P.O.S. Liner Due To Arrive Off Woosung From South About Noon

The steamer Empress of Russia of the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services is to sail from Shanghai for Vancouver, British Columbia this afternoon. The vessel left Hongkong last Thursday and was due to arrive today at noon off Woosung with 119 passengers for Shanghai. The tender with outbound passengers and mails for the ship will leave the Customs Jetty at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Among those leaving on the Empress of Russia are: Mr. G. D. B. Bidwell of Tientsin who will join the ship at Yokohama, Mr. Duncan Clark of Weihaiwei, Mr. V. A. Dodge of Dodge and Seymour, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Sweeney, who are stopping over in Japan, Col. M. H. Logan of Messrs. Palmer and Turner, Mr. A. Bassett, B. A. T., and Mrs. Bassett, Dr. de Schweinitz of Rockefeller party, Dr. J. G. Clark of Rockefeller party, Mr. R. L. Moncrieff, Hongkong-Shanghai Bank, Prof. A. F. Ossendovski, noted Polish scientist, Dr. A. A. Gilman, President Boone University, and family, Mr. T. Toledano, exchange broker, Mr. Andre Braud, Customs. Fifteen Members of the Chinese Delegation to Pacific Conference at Washington also leave on the ship. Mr. J. D. Rockefeller Jr., and party are through passengers from Japan.

Melbourne, Oct. 13.—Mr. G. F. Pearce, the Minister of Defense, sailed for Vancouver today to attend the Washington Conference.

FRANCE LEANS TO JAPAN

Paris, Oct. 13.—The French Press continues to devote articles to the Washington Conference and emphasises the conciliatory attitude of the Japanese authorities, whose reasonable tendencies it approves.

The Matin writes: "The latest advices from Washington and Tokio show the Pacific question, in a much more optimistic light, than the American press represents it. A semi-official despatch from Tokio to the Associated Press announces notably that what Japan desires above all is to be able to explain frankly and completely the situation in the Far East.

"The Nichi Nichi goes to the extent of indicating what the instructions of the Japanese Government to its delegates are, and they are very conciliatory. With regard to limitation of Naval armaments they are to the effect that, if the other Powers like concessions, Japan should declare herself ready to reduce her naval programme in such a way as to retain only such a navy as will be sufficient to assure the peace of the Far East.

"On its side the Forum, one of the most esteemed American reviews, has just published an extremely reasonable and reassuring article by Mr. Frederic Moore, an American citizen who holds the post of Foreign Advisor to the Japanese Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

"Mr. Moore is very optimistic as to the probable results of the Conference. According to him the Japanese Government is disposed to make very great concessions to the United States with a view to arriving at a friendly understanding on the principal problems in the Far East.

"From other sources the report is confirmed that a direct understanding has been reached between Japan and the United States on the subject of the Island of Yap. The following are certain complementary details on this agreement: the United States is prepared to recognise the Japanese mandate for Yap on condition that it is guaranteed the free use of the island as a trans-Pacific cable station with an American staff.

"The Japanese authorities undertake not to censor telegrams transmitted over the American cables. Besides Japan will consent to rent to the United States the Yap-Guam cable and America on her side will recognise the Yap-Shanghai cable as the property of Japan.

MONEY NOW IN SIGHT

Peking, Oct. 14.—Tuchun Chang Tso-lin, the Mukden warlord, has agreed to subscribe $100,000 to the expenses of the Chinese Delegation to the Washington Disarmament Conference, the Chinese Bankers Associations have announced that they will give $500,000 and several other tuchuns are expected to follow Chang Tso-lin's lead.

Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister for Foreign Affairs, this morning announced his willingness to head the China Delegation and will leave immediately for Yokohama where he will board the Empress of Russia which sails for Vancouver from Shanghai tomorrow.

Nine members of the delegation will board the Empress of Russia at Shanghai. They will arrive there Saturday morning allowing but eight hours to catch the liner.

BRIAND TO TAKE PART

BRITISH IRE IS ROUSED BY U.S. ON IMMIGRATION

London, Oct. 14.—The British government has made a formal protest to Washington about the treatment of British immigrants at Ellis Island under the new immigration law. It has not protested at the limitation of immigration provided by that regulation, but, fully recognising that it is none of its business, has protested at the treatment accorded some of the immigrants under the present Ellis Island administration.

One instance is that of a young couple of good social position who, with their baby, were held for days in the pen with filthy immigrants. They were even refused a hearing by the officials.

The State Department has not yet answered the note but when the answer comes it will probably be published with the original complaint in the form of a report to Parliament.

Y.M.C.A. HONORS DELEGATES HERE FOR CONFERENCE

The delegates attending the conference of the Chambers of Commerce and of the Educational Associations now meeting in Shanghai were entertained at the Y. M. C. A. last evening.

The reception was held in the Board of Directors' room, the address of welcome being given by Dr. T. H. Lee, vice-president of the Association, who spoke in behalf of the Board of Directors in welcoming the visitors to the Association. He alluded to the importance of a work which had as its purpose the training of young men in strong character.

Mr. Z. J. Tsu, the secretary in charge of the education program of the Association spoke to the visitors of the work that the Y. M. C. A. is doing in Shanghai and in other parts of China and the bearing it has upon the important work of the Chambers of Commerce and of the Educational Associations.

A response was given by Mr. Kyi Ping-tso, representing the Chamber of Commerce of Kirin, who spoke in great appreciation of the work that the Association is doing for China at this important time. After the addresses tea was served and the visitors were taken over the building, including the gymnasium, swimming pool and bath rooms and the educational rooms. This opportunity to see at first hand the work of the Association was seemingly much appreciated by the visitors.

Naval Estimates Cut By Australia

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Oct. 13.—Mr. Laird Smith, Minister of Navy, introduced in the House of Representatives today the Commonwealth naval estimates, totalling £3,180,000 for expenditure in 1920-21, £96,000 below the amount of the appropriation, which is due to reduction in the personnel of the Navy as the ranks and ratings, lent by the Imperial Government, are now being repatriated.

The seagoing fleet of the Commonwealth has been reduced to two light cruisers, one training cruiser, two sloops, four destroyers, three submarines, and a few auxiliaries.

RUMBLE GIVES PLAN TO SOLVE HOUSE PROBLEM

In an address delivered yesterday at a meeting of the Shanghai Ratepayers Association, formerly the Civic League, Mr. V. J. Rumble was the principal speaker and in the course of his address, which was on the subject of Shanghai's housing problem, he presented a plan designed to meet the present situation.

Mr. A. J. Hughes presided at the meeting and in opening it announced the change in the name of the organisation. At the conclusion of Mr. Rumble's address a number of questions in connection with the project he advocated were discussed by those present.

Mr. Rumble's proposal is that the ratepayers shall authorise the Municipal Council to raise a building loan fund through issuance of debentures to pay seven and a half percent interest and built from 300 to 400 houses of standardised designs of four, five and seven rooms and located in several different sections of Shanghai.

Place Yourself in the Position of Your Tenant

A house may be new in construction, but if the paint has peeled and cracked, it certainly cannot command a good rent.

On the other hand, by the use of good paint alone, an old house will induce the tenant to pay for the added appearance and comfort. The cost of the paint is very little in comparison with the increased rent it enables the owner to obtain.

HARBOR EXPERTS HOLDING FIRST MEETING TODAY

Engineers Begin Big Task Of Fixing On Method For Port Development

Members of the International Commission of Engineers who are here to review the vast work that has been carried out by the Whangpoo Conservancy Board and solve the problem of developing the harbor of Shanghai will hold their opening session today at the offices of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board. At this meeting the work of organisation will be taken up and a preliminary outline of the work to be done in the next two months will be decided upon.

On Monday morning another meeting of the international commission with the Whangpoo Conservancy Board will be held and Monday evening the newcomers will be entertained at a dinner at the Astor House. On Tuesday a trip is to be taken through the Yangtsze estuary and to Hangchow Bay and in the latter part of the week a houseboat trip is to be made up the Whangpoo that will cover several days.

The members of the International Commission are Major-General W. M. Black, formerly chief of U. S. A. Engineers and now consulting engineer in the firm of Black, McKenney and Stewart, representing America; Mr. P. G. Hornell, consulting engineer of the Hydraulic Engineering Bureau of Stockholm representing the Chinese Chambers of Commerce; Mr. P. Ott de Vries, formerly head of the Department of Public Works of Netherlands, India, representing Holland; Mr. L. Perrier, for twenty years engineer on the Suez Canal, representing France Mr. Isamu Hirai, of Japan and Mr. F. Palmer, consulting engineer of the Port of London Authority, is expected here today, representing Great Britain

'JINX' EFFECTS FIGURE IN FETE AT COUNTRY CLUB

Columbia Clubrooms Picturesque Setting For Gay Function

With the club rooms transformed into a picturesque Moorish palace where incense burned and the music of the Orient filled the air, and with dancing, games, sports and fortune telling as special features of entertainment, the annual "Jinx" of the Columbia Country Club this year, held last night was regarded by those attending as surpassing any previous affair given by the Club.

The gala event, was attended by more than three hundred masked guests, the majority wearing striking costumes. For several weeks the members of the committee had been at work and not one feature which could add to the enjoyment of the guests had been overlooked.

The club house had been made into a Moorish hall and the results were elaborate and striking for architects, and electricians had been co-operating to gain the most picturesque effects possible.

The open air dancing pavilion was partially enclosed and especially designed lanterns were a feature of the decorative scheme. Masked knights and ladies, Chinese maids pirates, Spanish senoritas, Russian ties, and bandits gathered here to enjoy dancing.

The grounds of the club were brilliantly illuminated and a famous Chinese fortune teller was on hand discloseing the past, present and future of the guests, in a fortune telling booth.

The "chow" tent where a buffet supper was served commanded much attention.

Dinner parties by various club members preceded the "Jinx", which began at 10 o'clock.

SINN FEIN IS LATE

How To Be Polite Along Most Proper Chinese Lines

sure it's genuine, because the man I bought it from spoke Mandarin fluently."

In China, the guest merely raises his tea-cup and the call is at an end. Sometimes when a person with more time than discretion overstays the limit for a one-round call, the host significantly handles a tea-cup himself. He who is obtuse enough to ignore this signal deserves to have his hat presented to him with an admonition not to rub too much fresh paint from the banisters on the way out. A foreigner not knowing this gentle signal of guest subtraction sometimes gulps down his tea during the first five minutes of the interview and is then startled to hear the servants calling his chair-coolies to the courtyard gate.

Another custom which would be a life-saver to guests trying to divide an evening between a dinner-party and the Carlton is the Chinese privilege of leaving the table before the host and the rest of company. The visitor with a date for later in the evening need only lay his chop-sticks across an empty bowl, whereupon the host, observing the signal, remarks, "I hope you'll have a safe walk," and the guest departs without that dismal, cold jellyfish sensation of having made a social faux pas, which a person at a foreign dinner would experience under similar circumstances.

WRITE YOUR OWN TICKET

A boon to helpless children, too young to enter their own vote in the matter, is the custom which stigmatises as improper the naming of an infant after its father, grandfather, or even more remote ancestors. If such a custom could only be insinuated into the social code of the West, a mighty army of Ichabods, Hepzibahs, Ebenezers, and Jeremiahs would arise to call it blessed. There are few spectacles more touching than a helpless infant swathed in a christening robe and being labelled for life with some denominator which will make his school life miserable, cause him to writhe every time his wife summons him in public, and eventually lead him to part his name in the middle by reducing the offending tag to a mere initial. In China a child can choose a new name for himself when he starts school, another when he begins business, and a third to fit the slab on a grave-mound.

Men, who in writing to their wives on a vacation can't think of anything to say that doesn't sound suspicious, would feel a lifelong indebtedness to anyone introducing the Chinese idea that it isn't proper to correspond with your wife. A conservative Chinese, writing home, addresses the letter to his mother, if she is living, or else to one of his children. The wife, replying, always answers in the name of her child, even if he is too young to have anything but a daubing acquaintance with the ink-slab and brush.

EDUCATION IN 'SPECS'

There is a bit of etiquette which demands that a person remove his spectacles in addressing a person older than himself, a guest, or a public official, the idea being that glasses denote age and therefore indicate a bit of dignified swank. The only counterpart of this custom in the West is the haste with which women remove their glasses when the front door bell rings and the complete absence of optic aids on most social occasions. To the foreign woman glasses likewise indicate age, but she doesn't remove them to show respect to superiors.

Some of the customs have a backing, not only of reason, but of benevolence. In some parts of the country, for instance, a burden bearer always has the right of way on a highroad, regardless of his social status. There is an early record of six foreigners slaughtered by enraged country people because they beat an old man with a bundle of wood who insisted on his right to the path.

There is one piece of Chinese etiquette that would make a distinct sensation in foreign circles. We refer to the custom which demands that a husband describe his wife, if he mentions her to a guest, as "the foolish one of the family," or "the mean one of the inner apartments." We predict that this innovation would be followed by a hasty mobilisation of the hardware and several informal exits by way of upper story windows.

Ship Hits Lighter; Casualties Feared

The steamer Holhow, owned by Butterfield and Swire, rammed a lighter in the Whangpoo off the Customs Jetty shortly after 3 o'clock esterday afternoon, cutting the ighter in two. It is believed hat several coolies were drown-d.

The lighter was loaded with Chien Mien cigarettes from the British Cigarette Company factories in Pootung.

The river police immediately ent launches and men to the scene nd every effort is being made to ecover bodies and salvage as much f the lighter's cargo as possible.

The Holhow came from Swatow.

Teachers Salaries Refused; Are Reds Is Reason Given

Chita, Oct. 12.—A teacher from the Lutkovsky village public school, now under the power of Merkuloff, states that the Merkuloffists have refused to pay the salaries of the teachers in the Uspenskoe, Lutkovskee, Lenkovskoe, and other villages, on the ground that they are communists. The teacher further says that the Kappelists in the Suchan coal district are going over to the Partizans in batches. The Kappelists are ready to surrender to the Partizans en masse with the evacuation of Japanese troops.

Literary Department To Hear Interesting Paper Monday

The Literary Department of the American Woman's Club will meet Monday, October 17 at 4:30 o'clock at the Royal Asiatic Hall when a program of interest will be presented.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dadisman will read a paper on "The When and Where of Early Chinese History," and Mrs. P. H. Dunbar on "The Three Great Legendary Heroes."

During the summer months the members of the department have been making a preliminary study of the literature and art of China with historical background and a carefully arranged program has been planned.

Officers of the Literary Department are Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman; Mrs. G. C. Stockton, vice-chairman; Mrs. F. Van Buskirk, secretary; Mrs. C. G. Peeler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. J. Brenneman treasurer and Miss G. Oldroyd, librarian.

All new members of the American Woman's Club are invited to attend the meetings of the Literary Department and become members of the section.

Japan Learned Her Lesson As Well The German, Says Kato

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 13.—Speaking at the International Economic Conference at London, Viscount Kano (Japan) said that Japan was often accused of being the most militarist country in the world but the failure of Prussian militarism had taught Japan a striking lesson.

Japan was finding the burden of armaments almost intolerable and disarmament would be more urgently welcomed by Japan than by any other country. Undoubtedly the Japanese national conscience had been profoundly stirred by the failure of militarism and the glorious new enlightened ideas. The big economic interests were always on the side of a big Army and Navy.

It was economic ambition that compelled the United States Government to call the Washington Conference in connection with the Pacific. There was a great conflict between American and Japanese interests in Mongolia and the people of both Japan and America were of opinion that these questions should be settled by a league of nations not by separate powers.

$1 A Month Is Rent For U.S. Board Ships

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 13.—The efforts of the United States Shipping Board to find employment for its tonnage is further evidenced by the news that the Board proposes to offer idle tonnage to American coal exporters at $1 per steamer per month on a "bare boat basis." This means that the charterers will be practically given the use of the ship provided they bear all expenses involved.

The Mahaut of the shrine and seven others were sentenced to death, eight to transportation for life and seventeen others to seven years' rigorous imprisonment.

PLAN INDIA'S TARIFF

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

London, Oct. 13.—The question of the desirability of adopting the principle of Imperial preference will be considered by the Fiscal Commission appointed by the Government of India to examine its tariff policy with reference to all interests concerned. The Commission consists of twelve notables of whom seven are Indian and five British.

Sir Ibrahim Rahmitoola, member of the Legislative Council, is President and Mr. John Maynard Keynes Vice-President it is expected that the Commission, after touring India, will complete its labor, dealing with the taking of oral evidence early in March.

Engineering Men Are Hosts At Dinner To Dr. J. A. L. Waddell

Dr. J. A. L. Waddell, eminent American engineer, was guest of honor last night at a dinner tendered by some sixty-five engineering men at the Union Club.

The dinner was given by graduates of the Massachussetts Institute of Technology, of Harvard University, Renssalaer Institute of Technology and members of the Chinese Students' Engineering Society.

Dr. Waddell leaves tomorrow or Nanking on the way to Peking.

British Lecturer Will Speak Here

Dr. T. H. Hodgkin To Give Series Of Addresses At Lyceum Theater

Dr. T. H. Hodgkin, one of the most interesting of British lecturers, will shortly arrive in Shanghai to give a series of lectures at the Lyceum Theater on religion.

Dr. Hodgkin has already lectured at Peking, Canton, Kuliang Kuling, and is now at Hongkong where the Governor and other high officials have presided at his meetings.

Since his graduation from Cambridge he has lectured in India, the United States, Holland, Syria the Scandinavian countries, and even far off Madagascar. He has just been awarded a prize of £200 under the Walker Trust of the University of St. Andrews for an essay on "Spiritual Regeneration as the Basis of World Reconstruction." More than five hundred competed in the contest.

You can see the evening star in the starry heavens most any night but you'll have to wait until Monday afternoon, October 17, to read THE EVENING STAR, Shanghai's newest afternoon newspaper.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.
It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.

Save the Babies.

Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

GUARANTEED SCRUBBABLE
W.H.C. SUPER-DURABLE FLAT PAINT
FLAT WALL FINISH

A perfect Paint of smooth surface for Interior Wall Coating

The surface obtainable with this paint is smooth and flat, i.e., it is not a grainy, dead, lifeless finish, but of a velvety texture. It dries in a reasonably quick time, so that work can be carried out effectively, yet has the property of remaining open long enough to enable the worker to cover a large surface of wall without making laps or edges.
Excellent results with Super Durable Flat Finish are easily obtained, irrespective of the skill of the user, and an elaborate preparation of the surface is usually quite unnecessary.
Super Durable Flat Finish has been tried on non-absorbent surfaces of all kinds and where distemper and oil paint have proved prone to shell or flake off, it has always adhered. It gives a lasting finish of surprising beauty.
1 Imperial Gallon covers about 130 square yards one coat.

HARBIN MAY BE NEW SEAT OF THE SIBERIAN PARLEY

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 11.—The conference at Dairen, between the Japanese and the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic may be broken off at any time, according to reports received in Japanese circles.

The difficulty is arising over the old question of the Japanese withdrawal of troops from Siberia, which the Russian representatives want to take place before the treaty of trade is negotiated between the two countries. The Japanese are still protesting this arrangement, however, and because of it, it is thought that the conference may be broken off.

With regard to the minor point of the moving of the seat of the conference to Chita from Dairen so that the Chita delegates may have better communications with their government, it is said that Japan would not be willing to go to Chita, but it is believed that she would be willing to transfer the negotiations to Harbin if that would facilitate matters.

CHITA TO QUIT URGA

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Oct. 14.—Chang Tso-ling, Tuchun of Fengtien, has wired Peking stating that Yourin has arrived at Fengtien. According to Yourin the Chita Government is now ready to withdraw its troops from Urga.

Tuchun Chang Tso-ling adds that Chita is now short of provisions and that the time has arrived when China can demand that the troops be withdrawn, and asks for full information of all Chita affairs so that delegates can be sent to Manchuria to negotiate with the Chita Government.

Eu-Tsz May Draw Release From Jail As Christmas Gift

Santa Claus will present Eu Tsz with the keys to his cell in the Municipal jail as a Chrjstmas present on December 23, if Eu Tsz has been behaving himself during the four years he has already served.

British Assessor Hutchison and Magistrate Li today suspended Eu Tsz' sentence so that he will be released when he has served four years if upon investigation it is found he has a good prison record and can produce some person satisfactory to the Court to go his bond.

Eu Tsz was sentenced to 12 years' imprisonment four years ago for shooting Yang Sung during a quarrel in an alleyway off North Szechuen Road. A year ago he appealed to the court to suspend his sentence without success.

Yesterday Mr. J. Em. Lemiere appeared on behalf of Eu's aged mother and succeeded in having the sentence reduced despite the opposition of Mr. R. C. Faithful, the police prosecutor.

Mr. Lemiere declared that the man's mother was old and near death and wanted her son to be at her side before she went to her ancestors. Eu Tsz had already expiated his crime by imprisonment, Mr. Lemiere declared, and satisfactory bond for his future good conduct would be provided.

Mr. Faithful, in opposing the suspension held that Eu had not been duly punished. Twelve years was not too long a sentence for a man who had deliberately shot another man three times, he asserted, and ridiculed the plea that the aged mother would die without having her man-child by her side.

The Court considered the pleas and decided that under the Chinese code it was permissable to suspend the man's sentence if his prison behavior had been exemplary.

Fire Destroys Cotton Godown On Harbin Road

Effective Work Prevents Spread Of Blaze To Ginning Mill

A cotton waste godown at CH221-214 Harbin Road was destroyed by fire Thursday night. The alarm was received at 10:07 o'clock and when the department arrived the building was a mass of flames and a cotton ginning mill across a narrow alleyway was in danger. Effective work by the firemen, who surrounded the burning godown with lines of hose, saved the ginning mill.

Portions of walls between the mill and godown had been removed and although this helped to spread the blaze, the department confined it practically to the building where it was discovered. But slight damage was done to the buildings numbered 210 and 215 Harbin Road

Hair Falling? Germol Stops It

Try the Remarkable New Hair-Root Nourisher. Notice Difference in a Few Days.

After combing your hair, do you find your comb full of dead and broken off hairs? How long do you suppose this can keep up before you become entirely bald? There is no excuse for this condition, now that the newly discovered hair nourisher, GERMOL, will positively end hair falling within a very short time. GERMOL gives remarkable vigor to the hair roots, where the source of the trouble lies. Every hair is held tightly in its root sac, and your hair stops falling. You can prove this in a short time. GERMOL also stops scalp itching and the condition which results in dandruff. It gives youthful vigor to hair-roots and brings back to the hair its lustrous original color. Your hair will be silky, full of life, luxurious. You need nothing else but GERMOL to give yourself a luxuriant growth of healthy hair. It produces results even in those of advanced years where the hair is grey and thin. Start using it today and solve your hair problem for all time to come. One bottle will prove it.

Luncheon Planned For Miss Burton

Woman's Returned Students Club To Entertain Former 'Y' Secretary

The Woman's Returned Students Club will give a luncheon in honor of Miss Margaret E. Burton, former Oriental Secretary of the Young Woman's Christian Association in New York, who is visiting in Shanghai, today at the home of Mrs. H. H. Kung, 205 Avenue du Roi Albert.

There are thirty-five members of the club, young women who have been educated in America and Europe and many of them knew Miss Burton during their college days in the States.

The organisation meets every quarter and holds a discussion of the problems which China is facing and the part the women of the nation can play in helping to solve them.

The club will meet October 25 when "The Attitude of Chinese Women Toward Disarmament" will be presented. A social time is enjoyed following the discussion.

Gardening Section Of B.W.A. To Meet

Members of the Gardening Section of the British Women's Association are invited to attend a meeting at Mrs. Ivy's house, 6 Love Lane, at 4 o'clock on Friday, October 21 in order to discuss and make arrangements for the Section's stall and for floral decorations at the forthcoming bazaar to be held under the auspices of the Social Service Board of the Association next month.

Tea will be served at 4 p.m. Plans for the demonstration in connection with the preparation of ground and the sowing of sweet peas fixed for the same hour on Friday next have had to undergo slight modification. Owing to cold weather having set in early, the sowing of sweet peas in Jessfield Park will commence on Monday and arrangements have been made whereby members of the Gardening Section may attend on any day of next week between 4 and 5 p.m. with a view to gaining practical experience of this interesting subject and of obtaining information in reply to queries.

GIANTS WIN 1921 TITLE FOR BASEBALL BY WIN OF EIGHTH GAME OF SERIES WITH YANKS

Hoyt's Wildness And Peckinpaugh's Error Allows The Sole Run Of Final Game; "Greatest Team In World," McGraw Says; "We Didn't Hit"—Huggins

New York, Oct. 14.—The New York Giants are the baseball champions of the world. In the eighth game of the series John McGraw's great team defeated the New York American Leaguers by a score of 1-0 in a pitchers' battle in which Nehf shaded Waite Hoyt, the Yankees' best bet.

The lone tally of the game was scored in the first inning when Hoyt, who was evidently not warm when he started on the mound, was a bit wild. Two men were passed when Roger Peckinpaugh booted a grounder, allowing the only run of the game that decided a world's title.

Hoyt settled down after the first inning and the Giants garnered but six hits off his delivery two more than the Yankees nabbed from Nehf's delivery. Peckinpaugh made the only error of the game.

Nearly 40,000 people jammed the Polo Grounds to see the teams play.

The Giants came back wonderfully in the series for after losing the first two games by a score of 3-0 they won the third game by a 13-5 score in a slugfest and took the fourth game 4-2. The fifth game went to the Yankees by a 3-1 score and the Giants were on the long end of the sixth game when the score was 8-5, again making the series even.

The seventh and eighth games were taken by the Giants by scores of 3-1 and 1-0. The world's title goes to the team winning the best five out of nine games.

In tabulated form it would look like this:

First Game
Yankees	3
Giants	0
Second Game
Yankees	3
Giants	0
Third Game
Giants	13
Yankees	5
Fourth Game
Giants	4
Yankees	2
Fifth Game
Yankees	3
Giants	1
Sixth Game
Giants	8
Yankees	5
Seventh Game
Giants	3
Yankees	1
Eighth Game
Giants	1
Yankees	0

The Giants won five games, the Yankees took three.

After the game Jawn McGrew, manager of the New York Giants said:

"I've got the greatest team in the world. The Giants are undoubtedly the gamest players of history."

Miller Huggins, manager of the losing Yankees said: "It was a great series. We lost merely because we couldn't hit consecutively."

Waite Hoyt, the losing pitcher had twice defeated the Giants, but in the final game his comrades failed to support him at the critical moment.

The final score was:

	R.	H.	E.
Giants	1	6	0
Yanks	0	4	1

School Presents Momento To Retiring Honorary Secretary

Yesterday morning a pleasant function took place at the Cathedral School when Mr. C. C. Graham was presented by the staff and boys with a handsome silver cigar box and cabinet.

The presentation was made by Mr. E. P. Graham Barrow, who referred to the loyal support that Mr. Graham had always given the school, both as organist and honorary secretary, during the seven years he had been in Shanghai.

Mr. Graham is being transferred to Chefoo where he will act as agent for the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation. After three months he will be relieved and be enabled to take his home leave.

The best wishes of his numerous friends will accompany him both to Chefoo and later to his home in England.

AM'N FOOTBALL PROMISES ITS BIGGEST YEAR

With Civilians And Schools Active In The Game Season Looks Good

With civilians organising one and possibly two American football elevens and four teams out every day at the Shanghai American school, the Yankee version of "football" will probably enjoy its biggest year here this season.

The civilians will elect a captain and make plans for the season on Monday afternoon when a meeting is to be held at the Navy Y. M. C. A. Cy Wilhoit, who captained last year's crack eleven, has called the meeting at 5:30 and Cy will probably be chosen to lead this year's team with Johnny Knowlan again holding the managerial reins and Tinkham looking after the coaching.

Much interest is being shown at the American School where teams have been organised in the seventh and eighth grades of the Junior High School and two elevens have been formed in the high school. One of these is a combination of freshmen and sophomores with the other being made up of Juniors and Seniors. J. O. Van Hook of the faculty is coach of the elevens.

The Juniors-Seniors team will probably play a practice game against the Shanghai Civilians in a week or two as the Cits plan to start work next week.

Today sees the season in the United States well under way with Princeton playing the Navy in the big Eastern Game. Yale plays the Army next week when Harvard battles Penn state and the Princeton-Harvard games comes on November 5.

The game between Harvard and Yale will be played at Cambridge, Mass., on November 19.

Following is a list of the more important games today:

RACES ON TODAY AT CITY COURSE GIVE GOOD CARD

One Hurdle, A Steeplechase, Two Handicaps And Four Flat Races Programed

A hurdle race a steeplechase two handicaps and four flat races make up the program of events scheduled for this afternoon at the local race course when the Shanghai Race Club will stage its fifth extra race meeting.

With the Autumn Meeting starting three weeks from next Monday there is much interest in today's events, for the dopesters will be able to get a good line on some of the ponies, particularly after the meetings at Shanghai last week and Kiangwan on Monday.

The first event, which is the hurdle race, starts promptly at 1:30 o'clock.

The public entrance to the unreserved part of the Race Club enclosure is now at 14 Mohawk Road and only holders of members and ladies' badges, grand stand tickets and complimentary badges will be admitted at the Bubbling well Road gates.

Tiffins, teas and refreshments will be obtainable at the grounds beginning at 12:15 p.m.

The Race Club's entrance to the Public Recreation Ground will be closed at 1 p.m. until after the last race. The Loongfei (East) entrance gates will not be closed except when ponies in a race pass that entrance.

CLAY PIGEON CLUB COMPETES THIS AFTERNOON

"H.H." Trophy To Be Shot For Under Difficult Conditions

The "H. H." Cup, kindly presented to the Shanghai Clay Pigeon Club, by a spectator of the championship shoot, will be competed for on tomorrow at 3:30 p.m.

The handicap will be a sealed one, and 40 birds fired at under the following conditions:

10 single barrels
20 double barrels
10 walking up the path towards trap.

It is likely that this will be the closing shoot of the season.

Sunday at 3 oclock the S. M. Police XI meet the combined Navy team, on the Police Field in another practice match. Quayle, Adams and Clissold will not be playing due to duty and leaves. Many new men will be worked.

BASKETBALL AT ST. JOHNS LOOMS HIGH FOR 1921

Only two members of the last year's St. John's basketball team, which carried away the East China Intercollegiate Championship, C. H. Tyau and K. T. Yang, are missing from the prospective squad that will start the season this year. Tyau is now in the Medical School and is ineligible. Yang has left school.

Coach Porterfield is also away, he having left early last summer for a year's vacation in the United States. He was able during his term as coach to bring the championship to St. John's for several years in succession.

The 1922 team will be headed by Z. H. Ling as captain and will be managed by Y. L. Tsung, assisted by K. W. Zung. The team will be coached by the new physical director, Z. L. Sung, who has just returned from the United States after a year's study in physical education. Director Sung is one of the outstanding stars of St. John's in basketball during former years. A number of the squad of last year have also returned and pre-season predictions seem to indicate another championship team.

Collegiate Tennis Finals On Today

The finals for the tennis championship in the East China Intercollegiate Athletic Association will be played this morning and this afternoon, between Shanghai College and St. John's University, on the St. John's University grounds.

ST. JOHNS SOCCER TEAM CONFIDENT

Football started at St. John's University on October 7, when the seven letter men of the last year's team who have returned were taken as a nucleus for the organisation of this year.

The practice started under the direction of Captain T. T. Mo, more familiarly known around the Jessfield campus as "motor car." Prof. W. S. A. Pott was invited to be resident coach and Mr. Clifford, a star of the Shanghai team, who has trained two championship aggregations at St. John's, will again give his attention to the training.

Z. K. Nyi, captain of last year's team and C. H. Tyau, a brilliant player, graduated last year. U. L. Daung, former right end, and K. T. Yang, right half back, have left the University to go into business in Shanghai. It is probable that Nyi's position will be filled by S. M. Sung, who was the "big man" in a decisive match between Nanyang and Soochow in 1919. E. L. Go will probably take the position of goal keeper. He was a member of the Chinese volley-ball team, which took the Far Eastern championship during the Olympic games in June.

A call has been issued for candidates and a promising lot of material is turning out. The team is being managed by Z. T. Tsang assisted by David Z. W. Dau.

Dr. Sun Demands Four Millions For Northern Foray

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Oct. 14.—Rumors from Canton state that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has ordered the appropriation of $4,000,000 to defray the expenses of the expedition against the North, which is stated to be leaving Canton shortly.

Dr. Wu Ting-fang will be "Acting President" during the absence of Dr. Sun Yat-sen.

DR. SUN TO TELL PLANS

(China Press Correspondence)

Hongkong, Oct. 14.—Sun Yat-sen has informed the Southern Parliament of his intention to appear before that body and explain his plan to tour the various provinces. He will leave for Kwangsi tomorrow despite the fact that Chen Chuin-ming has wired him asking that he delay his proposed trip.

WANT SUN STOPPED

Peking, October 12.—The New Society exhorts the people of China to do their utmost to prevent Dr. Sun Yat-sen continuing with his expedition against the North. The paper says that Canton is sending several divisions against Hunan under the command of Generals Chow Chen-lin and Hsu Chung-chih.

Record Entry for Peking Fall Races

Peking, October 10.—With a record entry and many Tientsin ponies coming up, the Autumn races of the Peking Club promise to be highly successful. Racing begins on Saturday and continues over Sunday and Monday, October 15, 16 and 17, with the off-day on Saturday October 22.

Boroon, favorite for the Champions both at Peking and Tientsin, looks as though he would carry all before him at the local meeting.

Hongkew Park Finals On Today

GOES TO DEATH TO PLACATE HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Carl Wanderer, former American army officer, who killed his wife and her unborn babe and a man still known as "the ragged stranger" was hung here today. He went to the gallows with a firm, steady step singing "Old Pal, Why Don't You Answer Me," and was still singing when the trap was sprung.

Last June, Wanderer, whose mind is said to have been deranged from his war experiences, hired a hobo to stage a "fake" hold-up. When the man, still unidentified, appeared on the scene in front of the Wanderer's home following instructions, Wanderer turned an automatic on his wife, who was about to become a mother, and then on the ragged stranger.

He posed as a hero of the affair until tripped up by Chicago police and was tried for the murder of his wife and sentenced to 25 years in prison.

Wanderer's mother-in-law declared he should have been hung and Wanderer voluntarily offered to be tried again.

"Anything to suit my mother-in-law," he said. On his second trial, for the murder of the unknown man, he was found guilty after a long legal battle and sentenced to death. It was one of the most sensational crimes and trials in the criminal annals of Chicago.

Can you let me know who at present is wrestling champion of the world, Zybisko or Ed. (Strangler) Lewis?

If Zybisko is champion, when and how did he obtain his title?

FAN.

According to the latest available information, Ed (Strangler) Lewis is heavyweight wrestling champion of the world, by reason of his defeat of Joe Stecher when they met in their second match.

In their first match, Lewis was defeated by Stecher, and the latter held the championship for a little more than a year up to this summer. The second encounter occurred then, and Stecher was defeated.

JUTE FABRICS

Mr. J. A. Fredericks writes as follows in the just fabrics circular dated October 12.

Since the last circular prices have gone up to as high as Tls. 182 for Heavy C's bluestripe 2¼ lbs., consequent upon demand from Dairen; but this demand slackening, prices have receded to Tls. 178 at which stocks are available. Greenstripe 2½ lbs. are still neglected. No business to report in Hessians which can be obtained @ Tls. 80.

Robbers Chloroform Bank Officials And Steal $50,000

(Reuter's Service)

Winnipeg, Oct. 13.—Five robbers chloroformed the manager and two women clerks in the bank of Hochelega at Elie, rifled the safe and escaped in a motor car with $50,000 in cash and securities. The motor car was wrecked and the bandits scattered over the country side, pursued by a posse of citizens who eventually captured them.

Ohio Farmer Has Tiniest Golf Course

South-Charleston, near London, Ohio, claims the distinction of the smallest golf course.

Charles Kemp, wealthy farmer, has built a nine-hole course in his door-yard and seems to get as much enjoyment out of the miniature links as if it was regular size.

The distance of the first hole is 23 yards, the second 32 yards, third 21, fourth 20, fifth 13, sixth 25, seventh 26, eighth 14, ninth 27 yards. Total, 191 yards.

The course was laid out by J. Finley Kemp, who has travelled the globe and played golf in many countries.

Two shots are required for each hole, except the ninth, which requires three strokes because of a special hazard. An approach iron and a putter are the only clubs used.

The club is composed of a dozen business men of South Charleston and is called the Happy Hour Golf Club. An hour each morning and afternoon are devoted to the game by the members, and the course is kept in perfect condition by a special greens committee, headed by Finley Kemp.

AFGHANS GREET SOVIET ENVOY WITH ACCLAIM

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Oct. 9.—The arrival of Mr. Raskolnikoff, the representative of Soviet Russia to Xabul, the capital of Afghanistan, was a big event. On the day of his arrival he was honored by the Minister of Foreign Affairs and officials of the Afghan Government at a banquet in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Mr. Mahmud-Tarzi, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Mr. Abdul Hadi-Khan, the Plenipotentiary Minister of Bokhara, delivered speeches. The former pointed out the sincere friendship existing between Soviet Russia and Afghanistan, while the latter stated that Soviet Russia was the first Power to recognise the independence of Afghanistan.

Kolchak Millions Lure Merkuloff And Atm. Semenoff

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Oct. 12.—The Yokohama District Court has been called to decide the destiny of the 2,300,000 gold rubles deposited in the Yokohama branch of the Russo-Asiatic Bank by the former Kolchak Government. The money is claimed by Mr. Miller, Merkuloff's agent in Japan, on the ground that the Merkuloff government at Vladivostok is the natural successor of the Kolchak government. The money is also claimed by Semenoff's agent. The Court has decided to comply with the request of the management of the Bank to defer decision, pending the recognition of the Russian Government.

Burgenland Dispute To Be Put To Vote

(Reuter's Service)

Venice, Oct. 13.—Under the protocol settling the Burgenland dispute which was signed today, Hungary engages herself to secure the handing over of the territory in a tranquil state, upon which Austria agrees that a plebiscite shall be taken with regard to national desire under the direction of the Interallied Military Commission.

HORVATH IS ACCUSED

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Sept. 27 (by mail).—The paper Zaria of Harbin is making sensational revelations which have leaked out from the controversy between General Horvath, now at Peking, and Professer Miliukoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Kerensky Government, now at Paris, both Russian reactionaries. Professor Miliukoff accuses General Horvath of conducting secret negotiations with the Japanese previous to intervention, in which negoitations General Horvath agreed to accede to the demands of the Japanese in ceding them Saghalien, granting special trade privileges in Eastern Siberia, exceptional concessions on all mines and timber lands east of Lake Baikal, turning Vladivostok into a free port, and dismantling the forts there.

WARNS AGAINST PRESS

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, Oct. 12.—The executive committee of the Railway Men's Union of the Chinese Eastern Railway in an appeal warns its members against the sinister designs of the local reactionary papers, Russky Golos, and Sviet, which advise the members of the Union not to pay their union dues and not to subscribe to the famine relief fund.

CHILDREN ARE ADOPTED

Chita, Oct. 12.—The children from the Volga region who have been sent to Blagoveschensk on the Amur River have been adopted by the inhabitants of that town, in response to an appeal issued by the local Famine Relief Committee.

Information from Ussuri states that the peasants of the Maritime Province have responded to the appeal for their famine-stricken brothers in the Volga region. The peasants have established in the villages of Chuguevsk and Ukrerkovsky centers for collecting donations of wheat, rye, fowl, money, etc.

Mongolia And Soviets In Exchange Of Courtesies

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, September 15.—The following is the full text of the memorandum sent by the Mongolian Revolutionary Government to the Russian Soviet Government, and also the latter's reply:

"United by the blood shed in the struggle with the common enemies of Russia and Mongolia—the White Guard bandits of Baron Ungern—the People's Government of Mongolia, taking into consideration the fact that its forces in conjunction with those of Soviet Russia have cleared the country of the enemies and thereby have created mutual interests in the establishment of peace and peaceful intercourse between the two neighboring peoples, has instructed me to approach you, Commissar of the Great Soviet Russia, requesting you to mediate in the regulation of its international relations.

PROVES ITS RIGHTS

"I must inform you that notwithstanding the fact that our Mongolian nation by its heroic struggle for independence has proven its right to independent political existence, the question of establishing peaceful relations between Mongolia and China still remains unsolved. Due to this fact the normal life of our country cannot be established nor our international trade relations in which the people of Mongolia, China and Russia are equally interested.

"Being convinced that the Chinese people and their Government bear no aggressive intentions against the Mongolian people and their territory, and that they consider your authoritative voice and mediation, I shall expect your answer in this matter as soon as possible, (signed) Bedo, Premier and concurrently Minister of Foreign Affairs of Mongolia."

To the above memorandum Mr. Chicherin, Commissar of Foreign Affairs of Soviet Russia, has dispatched the following reply:

WELCOME TO MONGOLIA

"The toiling masses of Russia and the Peasant-Worker Government which expresses their will, welcome with great joy the formation in Mongolia of a People's Revolutionary Government and the liberation of the Mongolian people from a foreign yoke and the bloody rule of the former Tsar's general Ungern. The valiant Red Army of the Soviet Republic of Russia, side by side with the army of the friendly, allied Mongolia fought the oppressers of the Mongolian people and enemies of the workers and peasants of Russia, and helped the liberation of the Mongolian people from oppression.

The Russian Government thanks the People's Revolutionary Government of Mongolia for its friendly feelings towards the toiling masses of Russia and the Soviet Government, and for the confidence in them as oppressed in Mr. Bodo's note of September 10. The Russian Government fully shares the conviction of the Mongolian People's Revolutionary Government as to the necessity of establishing peaceful and business relations between Mongolia and China on a basis of the right of the Mongolian people to self-determination, and it hopes that the steps taken by it in this dierection will soon bring satisfactory results.

ASK NEGOTIATIONS

"On different previous occasions, directly and through the representatives of the Far Eastern Republic who are in communication with the Chinese Government, the Russian Government has approached the Chinese Government for negotiation on this subject. The Russian Government hopes to soon up establish permanent relations with the Chinese Government through the commercial delegation to be sent to Peking.

"The Russian Government notes with pleasure the readiness of the Mongolian Revolutionary Government to open negotiations with the Government of China, as expressed in Mr. Bodo's note of September 10. The Russian Government has already begun negotiations with the Government of China on this question. It expects that the Chinese Government will meet its offer which it will advance in the capacity of a mediator with a view to removing the possibility of a conflict between the People's Revolutionary Government of Mongolia and the Republic of China. (signed) Chicherin, People's Commissar of Foreign Affairs, Russian Socialist Federation Soviet Republic."

Ice-Box 'Love Nest' Is The Strange Trysting Place Of Professor's Wife

PAGE the shade of M. Balzac, for in Champaign, Ill., somnlent seat of a staid State University, has been written a fitting postscript to his "Droll Stories!"

Love — spare ribs — science — divorce—campus scandal—shimmy shivarees—college professors—their wives—the town butcher—the honor of a university—all factors in an unparalleled tangle growing out of a dignified engineering professor's allegation that his pretty wife was the "affinity" of the dashing town butcher, and that the two converted his icebox into a "love nest" for tender trysts far from frigid.

Professor Cyrus E. Palmer brought suit for divorce against his wife, Sylvia, charging that she had violated her vows, and naming Carl Carlson, married, butcher shop proprietor; then he withdrew the suit because, he said, he held the honor of the university above even his own.

The honor of not only the Palmers and Carlson, but of several other professors' wives, a few of the "advanced students" and at least one other Main Street business man had become involved. The revelations threatened to engulf the entire institution. So Professor Palmer suddenly whistled off the legal dogs and permitted his wife to quietly obtain the divorce on conventional grounds—cruelty—which, in the divorce lingo of today, covers a multitude of sins—and mysteries.

Mrs. Sylvia Palmer, Wife Of Professor Palmer, For Whom The Town Butcher Is Said To Have Built Strange "Love Nest."

CHILDHOOD SWEETHEARTS

This matrimonial hash had begun in Augusta, Ill., years before, when Palmer and his subsequent wife were children. They went to the same school, swung on the same gate—he bought her lollipops with his only penny—she sucked her forefinger in embarrassment—they were childhood sweethearts!

And, as the years grew apace, they even held hands—for this is a free country and such things are done, even in the best social circles Then came the college years and then, in 1911, an elopement which made them man and wife—and eventually wrecked their mutual infatuation.

Then one dav Champaign was shocked — horrified — it actually blushed collectively and individually. Someone said that some one else had asserted that a third party had heard—and so on, ad infinitum—that there had been a "booze" party of some proportions at the house of a professor while the latter had been away from town. It was hinted strongly that a number of tired business men, a few college widows—two wives of as many professors—some "advanced students" had attended, and it had been a large night.

PROFESSOR TURNS SLEUTH

The denouement came! The rumors had reached the ears of Palmer, connecting his wife with the parties. There were also mentioned Fred Frison, owner of the University drug store, and a Mrs. Wilson, wife of another professor. It was alleged that the quartette went to Quiver Beach, on the Illinois River, where they quivered the shimmy and other emotional dances.

The next Champaign heard Carlson shipped his wife and two children to California. Then he built himself a fine, large icebox in his butcher store.

Palmer pretended that he was to leave on a trip for Toledo. Carlson, who was a captain in the militia, was supposed to be on riot duty up-State in August, 1919.

Palmer bade good-by to his wife, took his grip and started for the depot and took a train. He alighted at the first station out and returned to Champaign by automobile. Then he gathered several of his friends among the faculty, hired a detective and descended upon his home. It was night, and they approached the house quietly, stealthily.

Opening the door with his passkey, the professor tiptoed into the house. "There was a sound of revelry by night," as Byron had it. Jazz music floated through the halls. The odor of highballs was self-evident. The professor, followed by his friends, broke open the door and found———

MRS. PALMER IN NEGLIGEE

Mrs. Palmer alone, in negligee, with her hair down her back.

A window was open.

The raiding party rushed outside and found footprints, but nothing more tangible.

While all this was going on Mrs. Palmer had been buying meat from "Lothario" Carlson.

"Ting-a-ling" went the phone bell. Mrs. Palmer took the receiver from the hook.

"This is the butcher," said the voice at the other end. "I have some really fine steak today."

"I'll be down and select what I want," replied Mrs. Palmer, innocently enough.

And so she went to the butcher's, returning usually a couple of hours later, laden with eatables.

Every day she went to the butcher.

Every day she stayed a while.

Every day the phone bell rang.

Once again the professor was alert. The phone messages sounded a bit "phoney." He decided to investigate, and sent a fake message to the butcher, calling him out of town. Then he descended upon the butcher shop. Sides of bacon, blear-eyed pigs and desiccated mutton hung on hooks. Pork sausages wagged unromantically in the evening wind. The odor of scrapple was in the air.

THE ICE-BOX "LOVE-NEST"

And in the rear of the store reposed one large, man-sized "built-in" icebox, innocent of looks, plebeian in exterior. The professor opened the door—he looked within. He gasped. Speechless, he motioned to the others. They looked—then looked at each other.

The interior was a love-nest!

A sumptuous divan stood on one side. In an alcove was a porcelain bathtub, adorned with heavy towels, bordered in purple. A soft light illumined the nest. Heavy draperies hung on the walls—on the floor rested a genuine Smyrna rug (from New Jersey). Against a wall was a buffet stocked with everything that Mr. Volstead abhors.

Even as the camel's back is broken by the last straw, so was the professor's patience blasted by what he saw. He went straight home and accused his wife. Did she faint? Did she cry? Did she ask forgiveness?

She did not!

She phoned to Carlson to come at once and throw her husband out of the house. He went without throwing and, through his lawyer Robert P. Burkhardt, of Chicago began suit for absolute divorce.

Article By General Supposed To Be Dead Printed In Petrograd

Plea Made By "A. A. Brusiloff" In Behalf Of Famine Victims

The Helsingfors correspondent of The Morning Post of London, telegraphing under date of Aug. 15, says that the Petrograd compositors have brought out a special paper, entitled "For the Volga Peasant," costing 1,000 rubles a copy, the proceeds to be devoted to the relief of the victims of the famine.

The paper contains an article signed A. A. Brusiloff, the hero of the great Russian drive of June, 1916, when 300,000 Austrians were captured in a week. The correspondent adds that "famous Russian soldiers are so rarely seen in print that a quotation may not be without interest." He does not say, however, that General Brusiloff was supposed to have died in a Moscow hospital, in December, 1918, after an operation made necessary by a Bolshevist bullet wound, and that the style of the article bears no resemblance to the short, terse sentences, full of imagination, which A. A. Brusiloff used in inditing his proclamations to his soldiers. Here is the quotation however:

"War and famine are considered to be the worst enemies of humanity. I hold, however, that famine is a far worse evil than war. The latter destroys the younger generation, whereas famine mows down all. The war, which has been going on for seven years under dicerent forms, has not been able to destroy Russia. Our Soviet State and all its federative republics still exist unchallenged. The famine, on the other hand, brings us face to face with destruction.

"In view of the vast extent of the catastrophe, it is no longer a question of the death of a large number of people with acute suffering, but of the extinction of the nation. The whole people will be placed before a hopeless situation. The flight of the starving not only brings about the romplete ruin of the peasant class, but creates the prospect of a worse famine next year."

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

Shanghai, October 14, 1921

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 1/4d in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 73¼ and the London-New York cross rate is 385⅝.

The official Sterling rate here today was raised 1d. to 4/2, the Gold Dollar rate to 80¼, the Franc rate to 1115 and the Yen rate dropped to 58½.

The market at the opening was on the easy side, the Dairen merchants being heavy buyers of Yen.

During the forenoon business in Sterling was done at 4/2⅛ for October delivery and 4/1⅛ for December.

Gold Dollars at one time were done at 80¼ for October and 79 for December. In the afternoon, however, rates firmed up and a fair amount of business was done in Gold Dollars at 80¾ for October and at 79½ for December and in Sterling at 4/2⅜ for October and at 4/1⅝ for December.

China again bought silver in London yesterday and the market there is reported as being steady.

Equal to Standard 1st Latex	30½/29
Off Colour Latex	29½/23
Fine Brown	24/20½
Good Brown	22/17
Good Dark	18/16
Barky	17/15
SCRAP:
Virgin and Pressed	Nil
Loose	Nil

Catalogued for sale 1,843,644 lbs. (about 689 tons).

Offered 1,477,428 lbs. (about 660 tons).

Sold 1,241,148 lbs. (about 554 tons).

During the past week the London market advanced gradually, reaching 9½d. for Standard Sheet on the 24th instant, but declined thereafter to 9⅛d., the more attractive prices no doubt bringing more sellers into the market, and thus causing a setback. New York has been slow in following the advance, whereas the local market as usual has followed London's quotations, but well above their parity.

This week's auction opened to a fair attendance, and altogether the demand was good.

During the day, however, cables were received from the buying centers, stating a decline in the market, in consequence of which prices here dropped, and the auction finished with a rather easier tendency.

Awarded Standard Sheet sold up to 30½ cents, but later dropped to 30 cents. Several lots were withdrawn when buyers reduced their bids to 29½ cents.

Sheet equal to Standard sold at 30 to 29 cents, which is about unchanged on the week. Fair prices were paid for Off Quality Sheet.

Awarded Standard 1st Latex Crepe reached 30½ cents, but only few lots were sold.

The interest taken in this grade and Crepe equal to Standard was moderate only.

Two lots of the latter grade packed in cases realised, however, 30½cents.

Off Colour Latex was in good demand.

Fine Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were well competed for at prices showing on an average an advance of 1 cent on the week.

Cheng Rubber Estates

The eleventh annual general meeting of the shareholders in The Cheng Rubber Estates, Ltd., was held yesterday afternoon at the Telephone Building, 24 Kiangse Road.

Dr. R. S. Ivy presided, supported by Mr. A. K. Craddock, Mr. A. J. Welch (Directors) and Mr. C. J. L. Stewart representing the Secretaries.

The Chairman's speech follows.

"The accounts and Directors' report have been in your hands for some time and with your permission I will take them as read.

"I will first deal with the report. Although tapping costs were lower than those of previous years, overhead charges due to a decreased crop were heavier than formerly.

"The increased cost under the heading of "Superintendence" was caused by having to pay the former manager's (Mr. Main) salary up to the time—February [illegible] of the determination of his agreement, also his passage to and from England, in addition to the acting manager's salary and that of the assistant.

"As I informed you last year the services of a visiting agent have been secured. Mr. Wiseman of the firm of Messrs. Wilde & Co., Ipoh, visited the estate three times during the year and his fee has also helped to increase charges under this heading.

"The increase in general charges is due to upkeep of buildings, a good deal of repairs were necessary and have been done to the manager's and assistant's bungalows, coolie lines, etc., and the fitting up of the hospital and dispensary was also a heavy item.

"Loss on rice—since June last—is a charge that has disappeared, I hope never to return.

"You will have noted that no amount has been allowed for depreciation. Owing to the fact that all buildings, machinery, furniture, live stock and carts, etc., stand in the books at Tls. 3.767,63 against the manager's valuation at June 30 of St. $38,625 and a replacement value of about $75,000, the Board sees no necessity of further writing down these assets.

"In 'Shanghai expenses' the proportion of Directors' fees is included, but I may now mention that although the accounts have been debited with the amount of fees, the Directors have not drawn them. The amounts due to the members of the Board being placed to their credit, when finances permit they will be paid part or the whole according to funds available.

"The original estimated output for the year under review was 250,000 pounds, this was revised on two occasions, the last being on the decision to cease tapping on Cheng and Jelutong divisions, (278 acres); it was then put at 128,000 pounds and this quantity was very nearly harvested.

"The estimated output for the current year is 148,750 pounds at f. o. b. cost of 28.79 cents per pound. It is however expected to materially reduce this cost, more especially should it be decided to again tap the trees on the Cheng and Jelutong divisions.

"With a view to reducing expenditure the services of the assistant have been dispensed with, his place has been filled by a native conductor.

"Every economy possible is being exercised in the working of the estate. The manager, Mr. Harland, has taken an enthusiastic interest in the working of the property throughout the year and has met our request for economical working in a most satisfactory manner, and I take this opportunity of expressing the Board's appreciation of the work and attention given by him and the Singapore agents to the Company's interests during a very difficult period.

"Turning to the accounts: I regret that the result of the year's working is so unsatisfactory, but the condition of the rubber market has been very much against us, the net proceeds of our rubber sold up to the end of the financial year being only 11.92d. per pound against the all-in-cost of 1-8.43 per pound.

"If the price of rubber will continue at its present level, 30 cents per pound, we should be in a position to meet expenditure for some time to come from revenue, but it is hoped that rubber will soon reach a more remunerative basis and thereby improve our position.

"You will see from the accounts that we have no funds on hand and therefore unless we are able to make some satisfactory arrangement with our Bankers regarding the overdraft it will probably be necessary for a scheme of reorganisation to be considered.

"The rate of exchange taken for the making up of the accounts was as follows: average rate for the year 56½, the rate for the final entries such as rubber in stock, cash in Singapore etc. being 66½.

"For the purpose of comparison I may inform you that the exchange conversion for the three previous years was:

AVERAGE FINAL
1919/1920	35⅛	44⅝
1918/1919	45¾	45
1917/1918	54⅛	49⅝

"I have nothing further to say, gentlemen, but before putting the various resolutions to the meeting, I shall be pleased to answer any questions to the best of my ability."

The following resolutions were passed:

RESOLUTIONS

That the Directors' report and statement of accounts for the year ended June 30, 1921 as presented, and the disposal of the balance at credit of profit and loss account as recommended, be adopted and passed.

That Dr. R. S. Ivy be re-elected a director of the Company.

That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Matthews be re-elected auditors of the Company for the ensuing year at a fee of Tls. 300, for auditing the books of the Company at Shanghai and Singapore.

Welcome To Our Port Experts

WELCOME is entended today to the six port experts of international standing who are met here to report on the best lines of developing Shanghai harbor as a great ocean terminal.

The visiting engineers have been selected by Britain, America, Japan, France, China and Holland, the nations clearing the largest tonnage through the port. In applauding their opening session today credit must be given to the praiseworthy efforts of the Whangpoo Conservancy Board which during the past two years has done all the spade work of the investigation. The experts may examine the data collected, and concentrate their attention upon the essentials of the problem.

The Conservancy work consisted of making hydrographic, geological, marine and land surveys of the port of Shanghai and the Hangchow Bay district. The commerce of the port has been analysed. The actions of the changing Yangtsze have been studied under all conditions of current, wind and tide. Sedimentation has been observed and mapped, with a view of understanding the changing coast lines. Alternative plans were then prepared of possible sites for deep water harbors, upon which the experts will pass, or suggest modifications.

But even with the details of the problem co-ordinated into several plans the solution of Shanghai harbor improvement will challenge the best efforts and ingenuity of the visiting port scientists. The technicalities of the situation are immeasurably complex. The two alternative schemes are of such magnitude, and the cost of either will be so tremendous, that certainity of the correctness of the plan decided upon must be assured before the work can go forward.

The outstanding feature of the harbor problem is as old as commerce. The race in ship building has ever led to larger and larger ocean carriers, the factor which ruined Tyre and Sidon as Mediterranean ports, and allowed Genoa to be outstripped by Venice in the Middle Ages. The port which anticipates the growth of commerce by providing accommodations is the one which wins prosperity.

And thus Shanghai's harbor today is curtailed in its expansion by the fact that the entrance of the Yangtsze over the Fairy Flats has only 16 feet of water at low tide. Even now ships of ordinary draft often have to wait off the mouth of the river for the return of high tide before entering. Within twenty years steamers of 40-foot draft may be seen on the Pacific, and Shanghai must be able to accommodate the larger carriers to hold her place as leading Asiatic port.

The difficulty regarding the Fairy Flats is not the actual dredging, which could be done through the ten-mile stretch although at great expense, but in keeping the channel open in the face of the well known vagaries of the Yangtsze.

The second alternative is to construct a harbor and fairway in the deep water of Hangchow Bay, and a 30-mile canal from deep water to the commercial area of Shanghai. A channel has been surveyed through the bay. The water along the coast of Hangchow Bay carries an exceptionally high percentage of silt, which, with the shifting currents, would make preserving the sea channel a work of considerable magnitude. The coast line at the Yangtsze Cape has been shifting so rapidly that there is no assurance of protection of a harbor. A few years might see the new port at some distance inland due to the sedimentation of the coast.

Along with the selection of the site for a deep water terminal the experts are expected to give advice upon the general modernisation of the harbor along the Whangpoo. It is planned to build wharves on both sides of the river from Shanghai to Woosung, making 32 miles of docks. There will have to be rail connections to the docks, coal bunkers accessible to the ships' sides, light portable equipment and mechanical conveyors for handling cargo, and improved docking facilities to attain the desired expansion.

The solution of the Shanghai harbor problem affects all of northern China and Siberia, where the ports are blocked by ice part of the year. The extension of railway systems into the interior will open vast territories to trade, most of which will pass through Shanghai. The shipping cleared in the port for the first six months of this year was ten million tons, which indicates the imperative need for expansive berthing accommodations.

Shanghai is now and has the chance to remain one of the greatest of ocean terminals. Her future rests with the visiting engineers. The difficulties of the deep water problem seem insoluble to the non-scientific resident, but great minds are applied to the task, and they may find a way.

And thus the welcome of Shanghai to the visiting engineers is a hearty one, and the hope is expressed that their labors will be crowned with success. The improvement of the harbor will rank as one of the world's engineering achievements, and will assure to Shanghai her destiny as one of the world's most important ports.

HER CHOICE

We're all wrong about Dean Inge. He is not gloomy. Or, if the thing isn't a pose, he is trying to equalise matters by telling funny stories which are as humorous as he is supposed to be depressing. Here is his latest:

The cook of a certain vicar was allowed one evening, as a special treat, to choose the hymn for family prayers. She made her selection, and after the ceremony was congratulated by the vicar's wife.

"That was a very nice hymn you chose this evening cook," said her mistress.

"Thank you, mum," replied the cook.

"What made you choose it?"

"Well, mum, it's the number of my policeman."

IRELAND'S PORTION

The Duke of Connaught received a smart reply recently when he was inquiring about a patient at the Westminster Ophthalmic Hospital. The patient was introduced to him as "partly Irish and partly Egyptian."

"Which part is Irish?" asked the Duke.

"His twinkle!" came the answer.

AND THAT REMINDS ME

Old "Davy," the genial Irish paperseller who meets all the boats at Kingstown, Ireland, is still in the land of the living.

A couple of months ago a theatrical company landed at the pier, bound for Dublin, where they were starting a tour of "The Ninth Earl," and old Davy spotted them at once. Singling out Miss Madelaine Vandyke, who had been warned to be wary of Irish ways, he accosted her with good-humored familiarity.

The actress was not alarmed, but old Davy ought to realise that nerves today are not what they were. The point is that a little while ago, during a particularly bad week in Ireland, a lady was quite overcome by the suddenness of Davy's greeting, and declared afterwards that for a second she thought he was an ambush in disguise!

Dr. Willink, the Dean of Norwick, tells an amusing story about his school days.

He says that every morning the head master called the names in this order: "Dear," "Sweet," "Darling" and "Willink."

And "Sweet, Darling Willink" was the name that stuck to the future Rector of Birmingham and Dean of Norwick.

CHEERIO!

This story is told by Mr. St. John Ervine, the playwright:

A convict was induced by the prison chaplain to read the Bible for the first time in his life. After he had read solidly through "Lamentations," he scribbled at the end of the last chapter, "Buck up, Jeremiah!"

HARNESSING OCEAN TIDES

Dream Of Centuries About To Be Realised In Europe —Vast Water-Power Projects

By IVAN CALVIN WATERBURY

Putting the sea to work as it invades the land under the pull of the moon and sun is the newest phase of man's war of subjugation on the great forces of nature. Tidal power is the last force in nature that man tries to make his slave in perpetuity—like fire, steam, the water-power of streams, and electricity from all sources but the tides. How vastly different is such enslavement from catching the tides intermittently to perform light tasks in grist grinding, as in the tide mills of the Old World!

Under the urgent need of checking the inroads on the world's resources of coal and oil, after years of data gathering by engineers and scientists, actual projects are being pushed in three countries for the utilisation of the Atlantic tides to produce hydroelectric power. Realisation of this old engineering dream has been found practical only where the tides are very high, where they run up a river in the form of a bore, and where the land formation about the estuary lends itself to the building of dams and storage reservoirs within prohibitive expense.

Nowhere in the United States are these conditions available, nor is the fuel problem urgent enough in America to call for hitching the wheels of industry to the pull of the moon, as it in Canada, England and France. There is too much "white coal" available in the rapids and waterfalls of the numerous American rivers after the black coal gives out.

But France wishes both to conserve her coal supply, to remove the need of importing fuel, and, above all, to shift her industrial center from the east and north to the west, as far as possible, for defensive purposes. French economists are saying that with great hydroelectric developments on the Rance River at St. Malo paralysis of French industries would be impossible by another invasion from the east and north. England, by a mammoth hydroelectric development at the mouth of the Severn and partly on the Wye, seeks to end the sole dependence of her industries on coal against another coal strike. In New Brunswick, on the Bay of Fundy, there is a heavily populated area of large extent in sore need of industrialisation, which can be effected by a vast hydroelectric development at the confluence of the Petitcodiac and Memramcook Rivers, where they empty into an arm of the Bay of Fundy.

WHERE TIDES ARE HIGHEST

In these three places the tides run the highest in the world, the range being the greatest in the Bay of Fundy. By range, or amplitude, is meant the vertical measure from the highest mark reached at the flood to the lowest mark at the ebb of consecutive tides, just as the amplitude of a wave is the vertical measure from the height of the crest to the depth of the trough. The term bore is applied to an abrupt tidal wave which breaks in an estuary, the wall of water then rushing up the river channel with great violonce and noise. The word came into English from the Old Norse, and in Middle English, in the form bare, was applied to any great wave or billow, as in Old Norse. The French word barre, from the same Scandinavian source, is applied to the phenomenon in the Seine and the Rance, while on the Garonne and Dordogna Rivers the French call it the mascaret. On some rivers in England, as the Trent, the bore is called the eager, this being a provincial survival of the Anglo-Saxon eagor, the ocean or the god of the ocean, corresponding, with the Old Norse Aegir, to both Neptune and Oceanus of Roman mythology. During spring tides on the Bay of Fundy the bore sometimes reaches a height of 70 feet, this being the world's record; on the Severn it rises over 30 feet, and on the Rance at St. Malo to a height of 42 to 45 feet.

So it is easy to see how hundreds of thousands of horse power can be developed by capturing this stupendous force so as to make it turn turbines during the hours of ebb tide, especially if the period of ebb tide is prolonged and regulated by means of storage reservoirs. By the time these tidal-power projects are completed, or perhaps before, the bore may be utilised in other parts of the world; as the pororoca of the Amazon, which rises to a height of 12 to 16 feet, and the bores of the Ganges, Indus, and Bahmaputra, which run often 12 feet high. Studies are under way preliminary to hydroelectric utilisation of the pororoca.

Again and again the question of using the power of the tides has been rejected as involving too great cost in the construction of reservoirs. Such was the conclusion of Lord Kelvin, who examined the subject some years before his death. Only the low-power tide mills, operating for a few hours a day to grind grists and do other simple mechanical work, have represented tide utilization from very early times on the coast of Brittany, England, and even China. As early as the eleventh century mention is made of the Anglo-Saxons putting old Eager to work grinding corn when he invaded the land. Little advance in the mark of tide mills has been shown since. No attempt was made in th early tide mills to produce a fall. The power was obtained from the flow of the water into a pond and out again, the water driving a large paddlewheel, like those which drive old-fashioned steamboats on rivers. As only the bottom floats should be immersed to get the best results, arrangement had to be made to raise and lower the water wheel to suit the rise and fall of the tide. Typically the pound was about four acres in area and the waterwheel measured 11 feet in diameter by 12 feet long, as in the case of a tide mill for grinding corn that existed in East Greenwich, England. A bevel gear at either end of the waterwheel shaft transmitted the power, the pinions being free to slide up and down two square vertical spindles.

This dependence on a variable head (height from which water falls) necessary in a tide mill presents the greatest difficulty encountered today by manufacturers to whom contracts have been let to construct turbines for use in proposed tidal-power developments.

THE MODERN TURBINE

At best, the usual tide mill, having an undershot wheel with straight radial floats, can work only five hours at a time, or until the water rising under the wheel chokes the tail race. If modern turbines were installed in such a tide mill, and the power used for generating electricity instead of for grinding corn, it would make a better commercial proposition than gas power usually does, according to the estimate of an engineering writer in a London technical journal.

The transition of the old tide mill into an electric power plant is only about to be realised, long after the old water mill driven by stream current has been transformed into a gigantic electric plant, such as is used in harnessing Niagara. Now tidal-power developments are proposed even greater than the hydroelectric developments from waterfalls. The proposed development for the Severn and the Wye is designed far to surpass in horse power all the Niagara developments combined.

To change a common tide mill into a tidal-power house one replaces the sluice with one or more turbines. This change, however, involves important considerations relating to both design and working of such an installation. For instance, assuming that the turbines turn in one direction only, the power plant must be arranged between two channels connecting the sea with the reservoir basin. One of these channels is closed while the basin is filling and the other while the basin is emptying. Thus the tide can be utilised coming and going. Unlike other mill streams, the fall is here variable; therefore the turbines need to be arranged so as to be operated in series when the fall is considerable (as at spring tides) and in parallel when the fall is little (as at neap tides). By these two arrangements the individual fall at each turbine can be made to vary comparatively little, and the output of power kept close to the maximum. If the fall gets below a certain minimum, a turbine will now give an acceptable output, but will rather hamper the output of energy.

This last consideration becomes very troublesome if only a single power station is used, because of the dead periods, created to obviate these dead it is necessary to construct a series of power stations along the coast, all arranged to feed the same distributing system. As the time of high water differs from point to point, the dead periods at the different stations will not coincide, and the total power developed will be practically constant. Only the number of tidal-power stations has to be very restricted, or the cost of constructing a new basin of about one square kilometer for each station will be prohibitive.

This is the difficulty that has narrowed down all plans for tidal-power development to certain bays or inlets where the natural formation of channels reduces the cost of reservoir construction to a minimum, where few power stations are needed, and where a tidal bore furnishes plenty of fall. The local ways of overcoming the difficulties of utilisation can best be indicated in a description of the three projects that are now in a fair way of being realised, namely, the Hopewell (N. B.) project, on the Bay of Fundy; the Severn River project, in England, and the Rance River project, at St. Malo, France.

BAY OF FUNDY PROJECT

At Hopewell, N. B., at the confluence of the Memramcook and Petitcodiac Rivers, are found in nature the three great desiderata for a tidal-power plant: (1) sufficient height of tide to afford a good head, (2) two natural reservoirs of large size so that continuous power is obtainable, and (3) the site is central to the population (250,000 souls) to be served. Everything is favorable here to the belief that the world's first great tidal-power development will be carried out at Hopewell.

The two rivers, being natural reservoirs needing little artificial completion, have an exceedingly regular tide, with a spring rise of 45 feet and a neap rise of 38 feet, and a normal neap amplitude of 32 feet. The flood makes up these rivers for nearly six hours and then flows back into Shepody Bay for six and a half hours.

The western dam (across the Petitcodiac) is to be 4,900 feet long, and the eastern dam (across the Memramcook) 4,800 feet long, and a wing dam connecting the two will be 900 feet long, according to the plan worked out by a Canadian engineer, W. Rupert Turnbull. The power station is to be erected on the wing dam, and over the tops of these dams a highway and trolley line (operated by the plant) will be maintained to facilitate shore-to-shore communication. By electric power from the station the gates of a lock in the western dam will be swung open at any suitable time of the tide to pass vessels through on their way up and down the Petitcodiac.

The Petitcodiac is to be made a high-level basin in which, replenished at high tide, the water will always be high; the Memramcook is to be a low level basin. This will be partly filled from the high level basin and always emptied during the latter part of the ebb tide. The gates in the western dam are to be automatic flap gates opening upstream, those in the eastern dam automatic flap gates opening down stream.

The total cost of the initial development to produce 90,000 gross horse power is estimated at $11,000,000, of which the three dams represent $2,491,600. As population increases and more power is needed, it is expected to enlarge the development to 200,000 horse power by enlarging the area of the low-level basin until it is in the ideal proportion of 1 to 2 to that of the high-level basin. This work would be done by means of an electric tramway and electric shovels, operated by surplus power from the initial installation. The eastern dam will save the agricultural Memramcook Valley the great expense it has cost the farmers every year to build dikes against the tides; it will also facilitate the decennial flooding desired by the farmers to fertilise their fields.

ON THE SEVERN RIVER

Owing to the conditions of unemployment and social unrest in England, the proposed Severn River tidal power project, under the Civil Engineering Department of the British Ministry of Transport, is of great moment. It was recently said in Parliament that the construction of the power plant would furnish employment for seven years to 10,000 men. Owing to the commercial depression, the Ministry is proceeding cautiously. The Water Resources Committee of the British Board of Trade has recommended that certain physiographical and engineering questions be investigated by a technical commission. As soon as trade prospects appear brighter, and the financial situation becomes more clear, the Board of Trade will appoint a technical commission to investigate experimentally, on a fairly small scale, the possibilities of so stupendous a scheme as the Ministry of Transport proposes, and from the experiments draw out the complete designs.

According to the full scheme proposed by the Ministry, the Severn is to be dammed, about in line with the Severn tunnel. The water will be let in through the dam as the tide rises; then, in flowing back on the ebb tide, the water will drive turbines, beginning to operate under a five-foot head, generating about 500,000 horse power a ten-hour day, with a peak output of about a million horse power. As the ebb tide there lasts longer than the flood tide, it is estimated that a working period of seven hours will be followed by five hours of indeness.

During this idle period, however, another part of the project will be functioning ten miles away. There, near the River Wye, a large, high-level reservoir will be built, and, on the banks of the tidal portion of the Wye, a large power and pumping plant. The centrifugal pumps of this Wye plant will be driven by surplus power from the Severn plant, and will deliver water to the reservoir through a tunnel over a mile long and forty feet in diameter. This tunnel is to be driven through solid rock. When the water is fed back from the reservoir the motors for driving the pumps will serve, by adaptation, as generators. The half-million horse power from the Wye plant, complementing that of the Severn plant, will secure a continuous output of about 500,000 horse power. Thus the Severn tidal power plant will exceed the 675,000 horsepower capacity of all the plants on both sides of the Niagara River taken together, and should some day equal Niagara as an industrial center. Much of the power is to be transmitted to London. It is estimated that such a plant would save 8,500,000 tons of coal a year.

The French Government has been the first to get beyond the paper stage with a tidal-power project. The Ministry of Public Works instituted last year a Committee of Scientific Research for the Management and Use of Hydraulic Power. This committee instructed a special "Blue Coal Commission" to study the problem of tidal-power utilisation at several estuaries on the French coast, and practical work is being pushed at two experimental stations established for the purpose on the coast of Brittany.

France Fighting Her Way Ahead, Says Tardieu

BY ANDRE TARDIEU
(Former French High Commissioner to the U.S.)

David Lloyd George recently described France as nervous. Yet our reconstruction and reorganisation is proceeding vigorously.

France is not decadent. The population, so reduced by the war, is being rebuilt. There were more than twice as many marriages in 1920 as there were in 1913. Using the same years for comparison, there has been a 17 percent improvement in the ratio of birth to deaths.

As to the economic situation, the assets of the Bank of France show an increase of 211 percent as between the years 1913 and 1920. The assets of five of the greatest banks of all France show an increase of 93 percent for the same years, and the deposits register an increase of 47 percent. The production of breadstuffs shows an increase of 6 percent for the same period. Other increases have been; Sugar beets, 32 percent; cattle, 15 percent; railroad ton miles, 29 percent.

General commerce, as compared with pre-war times, shows an improvement of 278 percent in France proper, and 149 percent in the colonies. Of course, the higher prices prevailing today must be taken into consideration with these latter figures.

TO RESTORE FINANCES

At the same time France is working hard to restore order to her finances, upset by the war. The budget for 1922 is 1,500,000,000 francs less than for 1921. There is to be no resort to loans for the ordinary budget of 25,000,000,000 francs, but only for reconstruction and replacement of equipment.

Of course it must be admitted it will take decades to complete the reconstruction and rehabilitation of France if Germany, the conquered aggressor in the war, is permitted to ignore and evade her obligations, now so far in arrears.

Taking a further illustration from a comparison of the years 1913 and 1920; France lost between that time by war deaths and war disablement two and one-half million Frenchmen. Yet, thus weakened, France carries the following burden:

National taxes, increase of 279 percent.

Local taxes, increase of 77 percent.

Public debt, increase of 654 per cent.

Our English friend, J. Maynard Keynes, who now writes for the German papers, chooses this moment to declare Germany bankrupt. We French merely suggest that Germany was not devastated and that her economic burdens are as nothing compared to ours.

NOT TRYING, BUT PAYING

During the fifty-two months of war our production of foodstuffs was reduced 32 percent.; potatoes, 23 percent, and sugar beets, 73 per cent. The number of our horses declined 40 percent., cattle, 81 percent; sheep, 74 percent; hogs, 53 percent.

Simultaneously our industrial capital was reduced more than 25 percent by the sacking of our rich northeast provinces.

Despite all this we are working to meet our obligations and will do so despite the fact that our debt which was only 35,000,000,000 francs in 1913 has increased to 265,000,000,000 at par, or 300,000,000,000 if our foreign debt is figured at current exchange.

This is a debt for France of between $53,000,000,000 and $60,000,000,000 as against the American debt of approximately half that amount.

France's debt is five times that of Germany. And yet they say Germany cannot pay.

France is not only trying to pay, but is accomplishing.

The Fable Of The Lad Who Tried To Earn A Doctor's Degree By Hard Work

In a Red School-House back in the Web-Foot District, it was the custom to have a Debate every Friday afternoon.

The much-mooted Question as to which does the greater Damage, Fire or Water, had been carefully gone over by the Squabs. Also who was the heftier Proposition, Napoleon or Washington? But the original Stand-by was as follows:

"Resolved, That Education is better than Wealth."

The Corporate Interests got many a Whack here in the Knowledge Works. Most of the Children wanted to grow up and be like Galileo. They claimed that mere Wealth could not purchase Happiness. The only genuine Peace of Mind came from being able to call off the Geological Periods with the Eyes closed.

HIS FLUENT WORDS WIN

Here in this little Brain-Hatchery were two Kids who were not Mates. One was named Otis and the other was Bradford, or Brad for Short. Otis was the Boy who took the Affirmative side on Friday afternoon. Otis firmly believed that Learning was the most valuable Asset that a Man could tuck away.

Brad was for the Money End of the Game, but when he got up to make his talk his Vocabulary would Short-Circuit and teacher would motion him back to his seat. Otis, however, could tell in well-chosen Phrases why the Scholar was a better and happier Man than the Millionaire and so he always received the Vote of the Judges.

BRAD WEIGHED 180

Now, Brad was done up, but unconvinced. He could not stand up before the District School and tell why it was good policy to corral the Jack, but he had a secret Hunch that it would be no Disgrace for him to go out and do the best he could.

Brad had a bulldog jaw and large bloodshot Hands and a Neck-Band somewhat larger than his Hat-Band. He jumped the Stockade when they started to teach him Botany. He weighed 180 and he thought he was too large to sit around and count the Petals of the Ox-Eye Daisy when he might be out selling Lightning Rods to the Yaps and making jug-handled Contracts Accordingly he Dug.

"Bradford is making a great Mistake." said Otis, as he saw his Friend tear from the Institution of Learning. "In order to get a few worldly Chattels right at the Jump, he sacrifices his Diploma.

HOW OTIS SACRIFICED

"I shall be more Foxy. I shall go right on through the High School and then I shall attend College and get a Degree. When I have taken my degree then I will be the Human IT. My scholarly Attainments and polished Manner will get me past the Door and into the inner Circle of the Hot Potatoes.

"As for Bradford, although it is possible that he shall have combed up a little Currency, he will be a mere ordinary, sordid Business Man—not one-two-seven when he tries to stack up against one who has just been delivered of a Thesis on the Correlated Phenomena of Unconscious Cerebration."

While Brad was out in the back Townships short-changing the Farmers and buying 8 per cent. Mortgages, Otis was working his way through College and living on Oatmeal except on Holidays and then Prunes.

GETS HIS BACCALAUREATE

He was getting round-shouldered and wore Specs and was all gaunted up, but he never weakened. He was pulling for the Laurel Wreath of Scholarship, or in other words, the Degree.

After enduring it for 4 years he passed his final Exam and the Faculty decided that he was a Bachelor of Arts, which is now just as much of an honor as being a Notary Public.

That was the Day when he had the Laugh on Brad.

In the meantime, Bradford had four Salesmen under him and had been choking various People and taking it away from them. He had butted into the Firm, but he was still shy on Botany.

THE JOB OTIS TOOK

Inasmuch as Otis had been one of the brightest Men in his Class he was offered a position as instructor in the College at a Salary of $55 a Month with a promise of $5 raise at the end of five Years, if he lived. Otis accepted, because the Outside World did not seem to be clamoring for his Services, even though he was an Authority on the Mazozoic Period and knew all the Diatomes by their First Names.

Often while he was burning the Midnight Oil and grinding out Jaw-Breakers, so as to qualify for the Master's Degree, he reflected as follows:

"It is true that Brad is making It Handover Fist and wears $11 Shirts, and rides in a State-Room on the Pullman, but he is not a Bachelor of Arts. And some day when he is a Multi-Millionaire I can still look down on him, for then I shall be Master of Arts.

HUGS HIS MATHEMATICS

"I have know since Childhood that Education is more desirable than Paltry Gold. Although the Newspapers and the General Public do not seem to be with me to any Extent, it is better to hob-nob with the Binomial Theorem than to daily with the $5 Table d'Hote."

In due time the Faculty gave the Degree of M. A. to what was left of Otis and still his Ambition was not satisfied. He wanted to land a Doctor's Degree. He knew that any one who aspired to this Eminent Honor had to be Whiz. But he hoped that he would make some Contribution to the World of Thought that would jar the whole Educational System and help him to climb to the topmost Pinnacle of Human Greatness.

DIPS INTO WALL STREET

Professor Otis did the Dig Act year after year. At the age of forty-nine he was still M. A. and owned a House with a Mortgage on it.

In the meantime there had been revolutionary Changes in the World of Finance. Everything on Earth had been put into a Pool. Each smooth Citizen who had something that was of no particular use to him went to work and Capitalised it. Brad closed out his Interests for so much Money that any one else would have been ashamed to take it. Then he and some other Buccaneers went down to Wall Street to have fun with several dignified Gentlemen whom Brad described as Them Fly Eastern Mugs. They succeeded in putting the Skids under a number of Persons who did not care to meet them Socially.

STILL LAGS ON BOTANY

When Brad walked around in his Million Dollar Hut he had to step high to avoid stumbling over Bundles of the Long Green; but he never had made further headway with his Botany.

It happened one Day that Brad was out motoring and he dropped in at the College where his Boyhood Friend now was the Professor of Dipsicology and Plamazzus.

"This is a likely looking Plant," said Brad, as he sized up the Campus. "I like to encourage these Joints because they help to keep a lot of Young Fellows away from Business Offices. I find I have here in my Vest Pocket a measly $250,000 that I have overlooked in changing my Clothes. Give it to the Main Cheese and tell him to have a Laboratory on me."

When the News got out all the sisboom-ah Boys gave a Parade in their Nighties. The Faculty called a Special Meeting and made Brad a Doctor of Philosophy.

Next year he put up some more and they made him a Doctor of Divinity.

The Year Following he handed them a Telescope and became an L.L.D.

Every time he Coughed up he was made some new kind of Doctor.

In fact, for a man with a 6¼ Hat who did not know the difference between the Pistil and the Stamen he was the most learned Thing in Seven States. Professor Otis was crowded into the Ditch. Sometimes he wonders which of the two has the nub end of the Argument that started in the Red School-House.

Moral: The Longest Way Around is the Shortest Way to the University Degree.

TEXACO
TEXACO THUBAN COMPOUND
a liquid lubricant for—
Differentials, Worm Drives, and Transmissions of Automobiles

Texaco Thuban Compound is a heavy, mineral lubricant—not a grease.

It gives the best obtainable lubricating service because it sticks to gear teeth. No grade, speed, nor any other adverse condition will make "Thuban" sling off. It forms a protective cushion of oil which prevents metal contact when the gears mesh, thus reducing friction and increasing power. Notice the decrease of noise when "Thuban" is used. There is no clash and grind when the gears shift.

A very little "Thuban" goes a long way. You need only enough to bathe the gear teeth as they revolve in the power housing. This is because of its adhesive power which keeps a film on them at all times. "Thuban" is a real economy because you must use it sparingly for best results.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report of the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—The high spots reached by cotton have not been maintained in Liverpool yesterday. Good Middlings for cash declined to 13.41d., October to 13.37d. and January to 12.96d. Bengals are down to 9.40d. and Egyptians to 28d. In Bombay F. G. Bengals have dropped to Rs. 434, Fine Oomras to Rs. 506 and F. G. Broach to Rs. 590. The new crop in India is reported to be opening out well, the monsoon is over and a fine harvest is anticipated. In New York on Tuesday, Spot was quoted 19.80 cents, December cotton 19.40, March 18.90 and May 18.48 cents.

Home Market.—Manchester is doing its best to raise prices, but it is doubtful whether the position is a strong one as it is generally believed that orders would be welcome and that the higher rates now asked are in respect to stock lots, the advance being as much as 10/— p. pce. Thanks to the agitation in India, those markets are not operating, which naturally leaves very wide gaps in the makers' order books. However, Reuter tells us that Sir Edwin Stockton, President of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce, in a speech said that the prospects in the cotton trade were brighter, thanks to more orders. More machinery would be started shortly. There is not much doing here in the way of buying, although there are shortages in many classes of goods which could be easily disposed of were such available.

Local Market.—Things here have been very quiet this week and the situation is sized up as being due to the fact that dealers have raised their prices and by so doing have checked the demand for the time being. Also money is very scarce with the Chinese banks and the high interest demanded by them makes trading difficult, if not impossible. The demands of the numerous newly opened Exchanges swallow up a lot of money that would otherwise have been utilised in legitimate trading and as will be seen in another place, the supply of Silver is at the moment at a dangerously low point. The cry is, "Too many Banks and too many Exchanges in our midst to permit of healthy trade existing."

Financial.—The Stock of Sycee and Bars has shrunk to Tls. 20,703,000 and of Dollars to 23,700,000, of which the native banks hold Tls. 6,420,000 and $11,840,000.

Yarn.—Stocks of Indian have run down to small figures and only 225 bales have been sold this week for River Ports. Native mills have sold 3,100 bales of local yarn and the retailers have taken 4,500 bales for resales in bundles. Clearances of Yarn and mill cloth are both on a satisfactory scale.

Auctions.—In this week's sales 37,260 pieces were sold and at the earlier functions Grey Shirtings showed a hardening tendency, which, however, did not last until today. Whites were irregular and hardly averaged steady all through. Mex. T.-Cloths improved on Tuesday, but weakened today. Jeans and White Sheetings also fell this morning. The few Turkey Reds sold by Kung Ping appeared to be welcome, and all prices advanced on last; with one exception this also was the case at Yuen Fong, Velvets again advanced a few candareens. There were comparatively few weak spots in the earlier sales of Italians, but they were more numerous at the close. Venetians were in demand at fractionally better rates.

ROSENFELD REPORT

Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows in their latest cotton market report:

China Cotton.—The cotton market during the past week has been one of little interest, though fairly large quantities have changed hands at similar prices to last week. The demands for actual cotton has been fair on the part of Spinners, the largest part of the demand coming from covering shorts, and prices eased off half a Tael per picul, though in our opinion temporarily. Arrivals in the meantime are increasing daily and caution is advised in trading by buying sparingly as a material advance is unwarranted at the present time.

Yarn.—The market during the past week has been on the easy side. New business for export, however, has been recorded, some 3,000 to 4,000 bales in all of 20's and 16's at a decline of 2 to 3 taels compared with last week. Deliveries still continue to be good. As to the future trend of the market, we do not think there will be any decline owing to the fact that stocks in the interior marts are almost nil and Mills have sold well ahead.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton market report.

China Cotton:—An easier undertone than has been experienced for some time may be said to have characterised our market during the week under review and which is attributable, on the one hand, to necessitated liquidation on the part of those who are affected by pressure of the monetarial stringency now prevalent and on the other, to the apparent indifference to the local fibre by spinners who are now busy with refilling their storing space with previously and timely ordered American and Indian staples which are arriving at this opportune time when the local new season crop is about fully ready for marketing purposes and is not meeting with that eagerness on the part of consumers which, under ordinary circumstances, would otherwise have been the case.

However, considering the universal crop shortage this year and the fact that as the season advances the situation in all probability will become more acute it naturally follows that buying on every important depression will eventually prove to be profitable. Tone of the market, Easy.
